

Basic Construction Gives $2,000 To Berger Hospital

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

Berger Hospital Administrator Charles Rideout had a bit of good news Wednesday night for hospital's board of governors. The administrator advised the board that a check for $2,000 had been received from Basic Construction Materials to be added to the building fund.

Rideout said the check had been received from Dick Shaw and the recognition and appreciation for the company's generosity had already been expressed.

Another item presented to the board at its regular monthly meeting was a certificate from the American Hospital Association recognizing Berger Hospital for 25 years membership in the organization.

The financial report presented by Harry Clifton, chairman of the finance committee, showed a marked decrease in occupancy for the month of March. Board members observed that the sharpest decrease was in the obstetrics department.

In March of 1974, the hospital showed an occupancy in OB of 73 per cent. This last month, it was only 42 per cent. For the year to date, there was only a 44 per cent occupancy in OB while it had 68 per cent occupancy for the same period during 1974.

The percentage of adult occupancy in other areas was only down to 74 per cent from 79 per cent for the month. For the first quarter, the adult occupancy was down from 81 per cent shown in 1974 to 76 per cent for the first three months of this year.

The financial report also showed a loss for the month of $12,257. Although this loss was considerably less than last March's figure of $34,813, the board noticed that the hospital was down 300 patient days. The decrease in patient days coupled with the fact that presently there are more employees than a year ago was blamed for the loss on this financial statement.

Regular bills for the month totaling $70,428.12 were approved for payment. It was brought out that the bill for the roof repair was $250 more than anticipated and Rideout explained that when the repairman got on the roof he discovered a bad place the entire length of the wing.

In discussing the decrease in occupancy, Rideout assured the board that he believed it was only a temporary condition. One board member candidly noted that the liberal abortion law may be causing the decrease in deliveries. Rideout also cited the federal government's interest in keeping hospital admissions down throughout the country.

A depreciation policy which was discussed at the last meeting was brought up again and Clifton advised the board that Blue Cross would not allow the change as formerly introduced by the board.

The new policy, if approved, would have allowed the Berger Hospital board to depreciate the new addition and its equipment during the second six months' occupancy and to take off six months at the end of the depreciation period.

The present policy will not allow the board to take a depreciation on the new addition until a year after it is occupied. New equipment can only be depreciated during the year after it was acquired.

Rideout stated that the new addition would have to be occupied by Jan. 1, 1976 or they couldn't take depreciation for another year. He also said the policy was presently under appeal.

The bills presented by the building committee were approved for payment. These bills are first certified by architect Dan Carmichael and then presented to the board for official approval. The following bills were approved for payment: Steward Construction, $86,879.70; Croson Heating and Plumbing, $11,630.03; States Electric, $40,662.

Rideout was officially designated projects supervisor at the meeting. He succeeds John Reid who held the position when he was administrator at the hospital.

In other action, the board noted the medical staff's approval of Dr. Jerome

Wexler to have courtesy staff privileges. The board had previously approved Wexler's employment, conditional to the medical staff approval. He is to cover the emergency room Monday through Thursday from 12 midnight to 6 a.m. at a fee of $8.50 per hour.

Rideout said the employment for the emergency room was on a three-month trial basis and he expected coverage for that time to cost at a minimum of $1,000. The board also noted that should the situation not be feasible for more than three months, the medical staff's approval would still stand for courtesy staff privileges but the salary and coverage would not be expected.

Rideout also reported to the board that he had contacted the county prosecutor on the Franciscan Meals Committee's request for the hospital to provide a certain number of meals. He said the prosecutor advised him the hospital could not subsidize the program and since the meals would cost more than the $1.10 reimbursement, the result would be classified as a subsidy.

The prosecutor did, however, advise

Rideout that an employee's fund would be legal. The board had approved the establishment of such a fund with proceeds from the newspaper, televisions and vending machines. The approval was made providing the venture was legal.

A payment of $2,211.22 was received from the Southern District Court of New York in payment of an anti-trust suit against several antibiotic companies.

Police Seek Third Man In Attempted Gun Theft

FINGERPRINTS—Jim Hockenbery, agent from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, and Circleville Police Ptl. Ron Smith check a weapon taken in the early morning robbery of Boyer's Hardware store for fingerprints.

A slow-moving train blocked the S. Court St. tracks long enough to allow a robbery suspect to escape, probably by jumping on the train which was bound for Chillicothe, Circleville Police said today.

Police and Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies combined, some two hours later, to apprehend two of the three persons they believe attempted to rob Boyer's Hardware, 810 S. Court St., of 36 guns and about $90 in cash.

Police have summoned the aid of law enforcement agencies in the county and adjacent counties by means of an All Point's Bulletin issued for the third suspect, who has been identified by nickname only.

Agent Jim Hockenbery of London's Bureau of Criminal Investigation, processed finger prints from the cash drawer, weapons, and the vehicle used in the theft to ascertain a better identification of the suspect.

The two other suspects were apprehended about 6:30 a.m. Thursday when they were questioned as suspicious persons.

They are Bernice McGhee, 27, and Charles Witherspoon, 35, both of Columbus. Both are in Pickaway County Jail charged with grand larceny and breaking and entering.

Circleville Police Ptl. Ron Smith, patrolling the south end of the city 3:51 a.m. Thursday, thwarted the robbery attempt almost before the thieves had forced open the rear door of the hardware store.

TAKING A COUNT—Circleville Police Sgt. Larry Pontious stacks some of the weapons thieves tried to take from Boyer's Hardware early Wednesday morning in a robbery try that was thwarted by police.

He pulled in the alley that runs along the south side of the store to check the building on his nightly rounds.

He noticed a mint green 1963 Dodge car sitting in the alley beside the rear sliding doors of the hardware store with its motor running, and radioed headquarters with the license number of the vehicle.

He asked for the assistance of Sgt. Jerry Smallwood and Ptl. Ken Henn, in the other city patrol car, and was in the process of telling the dispatcher that he would be on foot checking the vehicle when a man walked from the store to the vehicle with an armful of shotguns.

When Ptl. Smith ordered the man to stop, the man apparently ran behind the building. Smith gave chase, in the early morning rain storm, but theorized that the man jumped on the south-bound train that was running on tracks adjacent to the building.

Alcoholism, Sterility Found Linked

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A panel of doctors studying alcoholism says it has found a definite relationship between alcoholism and male sterility.

Dr. Joshua Perper, chief forensic pathologist for the Allegheny County coroner's office, says severe testicle damage was found in men with a history of alcoholism and it could result from two causes.

He said damage to the liver could prevent the liver from neutralizing female hormones produced in the male, or the alcohol itself may be toxic to the testicles.

Whether there is also a direct causal link between liquor and consistent impotence remains undetermined, Perper said in an interview Wednesday.

"It is very hard to say whether the changes in the testes may be associated with impotence," said Perper. "Impotence may be psychologically related and requires the study of living individuals."

Perper said he and two other physicians discovered the highly damaged testes during a study of unexplained deaths among alcoholics.

"These were heavy drinkers who did not have severe liver disease," said a participating researcher, Dr. Lewis Kuller, an epidemiologist at the University of Pittsburgh.

"When they died, it was not of classical cirrhosis and it was not at home or under medical supervision. We are trying to find out why they die when the only observable damage is a fatty liver."

Meanwhile, the other officers couldn't get through the intersection to help in the search because of the train.

Police did seize the vehicle and recovered 33 of the 36 rifles, shotguns,

Congress OKs Troop Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Turning aside fears of new U.S. combat deaths, Congress early today voted to give President Ford authority to use American military forces if necessary to evacuate Vietnamese as well as Americans from South Vietnam.

Authority to use military forces was approved by the House in a $327-million aid bill approved 230 to 187 this morning and by the Senate in a $250-million aid bill approved 75 to 17 Wednesday.

House and Senate conferees are expected to begin work later today on a compromise.

President Ford had asked Congress to approve $250 million in humanitarian aid for South Vietnam, authorize the use of U.S. troops to evacuate Americans and Vietnamese and vote $722 million military aid.

By its actions, Congress approved the first two requests. But the chances of approving more military funds appear dim. Ford told reporters aboard Air Force One Wednesday night that he now was going to review the military aid request.

As Congress wound up its final debate on the bills, Ford was telling a cheering audience at Tulane University in New Orleans that the Vietnam war was over for the United States. The President said the time has come for a national reconciliation to heal the wounds and discords of the past decade and to build a better America for the future.

On both sides of the Capitol, opponents of the bills contended Congress was giving the President unlimited authority to use whatever U.S. forces he believes are needed at whatever risk.

"If we want a bloodbath in South Vietnam, the best way to do it is to send in U.S. troops to evacuate foreign nationals," Sen. Floyd K. Haskell, D-Colo., told the Senate.

In the House, Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts said his heart bleeds for any South Vietnamese threatened with reprisals but said he wants no more U.S. soldiers killed there.

But other congressmen, including vocal foes of America's involvement in the Vietnam war, said the United States has a moral obligation to try to get endangered South Vietnamese out.

"It is a crack in the door, I grant you that," said Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn. "But you've got to trust somebody. You can't run evacuation programs from the Congress."

Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., said the lives of Vietnamese who sided with America are in danger and "we owe it to ourselves and to a sense of decency to permit efforts to get them out."

The House passed its bill at 2:40 a.m. today after a marathon 14-hour session. The bill's $327 million includes $150 million new money for evacuation efforts and humanitarian aid for South Vietnam, plus authority to spend $177 million previously approved by

Soviets Promise Strict Guarantees In Israeli Pullback

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has promised Israel the "strictest" guarantees of its continued existence provided it returns all the Arab territories it occupied in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Speaking Wednesday night at a dinner in Moscow honoring Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam, Gromyko said the Soviet Union is prepared to give Israel "the strictest guarantees" that would "ensure peaceful conditions for the existence and development of all states of the Middle East."

He added that such guarantees would be given in "an appropriate agreement" that must also provide for Israeli withdrawal from all occupied territory.

Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin said in a speech in Jerusalem that Israel is "now engaged in a struggle ... with the world in general and in particular with the United States." He added, however, that he did not consider Israeli-American relations in a "crisis."

He apparently was referring to the displeasure of President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger because Israel would not give up the Sinai Desert territory demanded by Egypt when Kissinger was trying to negotiate another withdrawal agreement last month. Neither Kissinger nor Ford have given any indication of similar displeasure with Egypt because it refused to give the pledge of nonbelligerency demanded by Israel for the territory.

Israeli Defense Minister Shimon Peres told students at Tel Aviv University that U.S. arms shipments to Israel have a "definite limit," and Israel must take into account that they could be cut off entirely. But U.S. Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger met in Washington with Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz, and observers believed he sought to reassure him that Israel's security continues to be a prime American concern.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat moved on to Tehran following a reconciliation meeting in Saudi Arabia with President Hafez Assad of Syria. Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi said he fully backed Sadat's "reasonable and honorable" policies.

The Saudi Arabian interior minister, Prince Nayef Ibn Abdel Aziz, announced that the investigation of the assassination of King Faisal is almost complete. He said the assassin, Faisal's nephew Prince Faisal Ibn Musaed, "will be referred to the sharia court for trial in accordance with the procedures normally meted out to every criminal."

Public beheading is the penalty for murder prescribed by the sharia, or Islamic law.

Informed sources said the investigation has turned up no indication that Prince Faisal was part of a conspiracy.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks were lower again today, with traders concerned by a flow of poor first-quarter earnings and the threat of a new round of higher interest rates.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 2.35 at 800.14 at noon, somewhat improved from the 5 point loss registered in the first trading hour. But declines kept a 2 to 1 lead over advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

First-quarter earnings, generally on the poor side, gave fresh evidence of the depths of the recession, analysts said. In addition, Wall Street remained concerned that the government will have to borrow heavily in the money markets to finance the federal budget deficit, thus adding upward pressure on short-term interest rates.

The NYSE's composite stock index gave up 0.18 to 45.46, while the American Stock Exchange's market-value index was off 0.29 at 83.28.

June Ruling Slated On Democratic Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A common pleas judge says he will rule in early June on the validity of six partisan bills that majority Democrats rushed through the opening week of the General Assembly.

Attorneys for both sides waived final arguments Wednesday on the third day of a non-jury civil trial in which Republicans sought to overturn the legislation because it was not signed by former GOP Lt. Gov. John W. Brown.

Judge Frederick T. Williams, who issued a temporary restraining order Jan. 22 stalling enactment of the bills, gave prosecution and defense attorneys until May 30 to submit briefs. He said he would announce his ruling on June 6.

Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, filed suit, challenging the constitutionality of the legislation after Democrats bypassed Brown and sent the bills directly to former Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Gilligan signed the documents on Jan. 11, two days before the inauguration of Gov. James A. Rhodes who presumably would have vetoed the measures including a controversial congressional restricting plan.

During court testimony, Brown, now commissioner of Ohio Lake Lands, testified that Democrats had refused to give him both the original bills and working copies so he could make comparisons for possible typographical and language errors.

Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, who testified that he waited about three hours for Brown to sign before giving up, said Wednesday he regretted that a former Senate message clerk had been unable to testify at the trial.

"I think it would have had a devastating effect," said Ocasek who was named as a defendant in the case along with Senate Clerk William Chavanna and House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston.

Defense attorneys submitted as evidence a written deposition from the clerk, Harold H. Blair of Phoenix, Ariz., who regularly presented bills to Brown for signing over a seven and a half month period, ending in mid-and handguns that were placed in it from the store. Three handguns are still unaccounted for, they said.

Thieves also took about $90 in cash and change from two cash registers in the store.

Under the direction of Sgt. Larry Pontious of the police department, officers from the police and Sheriff's department began a systematic contacting of local businesses about 6 a.m., when most of the agencies opened.

The officers directed the employees to be on the watch for suspicious persons who would probably be on foot.

About five minutes after Sheriff's Deputy James Fite contacted Koch's Sohio Service Station, on Route 23, south of Circleville, employees returned his call to state that two persons, later identified as Ms. McGhee and Witherspoon, were at the station.

Deputy Fite and Ptl. Smith questioned the couple at Koch's, but they couldn't give a satisfactory account of their situation.

The pair was taken to the Pickaway County Jail by Deputy Fite.

Officers discovered that the vehicle they had impounded at the robbery scene was owned by Ms. McGhee.

Under separate questioning, Ms. McGhee apparently made references to the burglary that convinced police she had some part in it.

Sgt. Pontious believes the two men asked Ms. McGhee to drive them to Circleville, and asked her to park in front of the hardware store without shutting off the car's engine.

He believes she did not want to participate in the robbery and actually spent the time walking in the area with Witherspoon, who was apparently trying to convince her to go along with the plans.

The third man apparently pulled the car behind the store and actually committed the crime while the couple was walking.

They apparently spotted police officers at the hardware store on their return.

Witherspoon, police said, was released from the Ohio Penitentiary about two weeks ago where he had served a sentence for breaking and entering, grand larceny, and rape.

Police found that he was carrying $90.40 when they arrested him.

Ironically, Circleville City Council early in the month voted to create a satellite fire station for the city fire department to allow firefighters access to the city's south end in the event of blocked train tracks.

August of 1972.

"He would thumb through the bills looking for the signature page and go directly to that page," Blair stated in the April 7 deposition when asked to describe Brown's procedure. "It was just a matter of — from my point of view — checking to see where the signature was required and affixing it."

Blair said he took Brown the enrolled, or original bills, and brought along the engrossed working copies only when he went directly after meeting with Brown to the governor's office.

The bill causing the most concern among Republicans is the congressional remap plan by which the Democrats seek to redraw district boundaries along lines more favorable to their candidates.

The other bills would: move state income tax and consumer divisions to the jurisdiction of Democratic office-holders; restrict the election board appointive powers of the Secretary of State, ease voter registration regulations, and provide unemployment benefits to workers idled by off-premises strikes.

2 Indianapolis Banks Robbed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Two branch banks on opposite sides of town were robbed within three hours Wednesday.

In one holdup, two men wearing Halloween masks got only a sack filled with 800 blank money orders. Police said the pair, armed with M1 carbines, ordered five employees and two customers in the Indiana National Bank branch, to lie face down on the floor. Witnesses said one robber entered the vault, grabbed a bulging bank bag and fled.

Police said one man entered a Merchants National Bank branch, handed a teller a note demanding money and fled with "several hundred dollars." The man wore sunglasses, a sweatshirt with a hood that hid his face and multi-colored jeans.

2 Charged With Theft Of Money

Two men were arrested by Pickaway County Sheriff's Authorities for petit theft of $138.34 in money at the Gold Cliff Park Service Station, Wednesday.

Charles J. Chmielewski, 18, Orlando, Fla., and Henry Teeters, 25, Portsmouth, entered the station around 4:30 p.m., located on Route 23, south of Circleville, requesting assistance of the attendant with his auto.

While the attendant was assisting Teeters, Chmielewski walked to the booth and removed money from the cash register in full view of service manager, Tom Smith, who was standing inside the restaurant.

Chmielewski went to the rear of the restaurant and emptied the money box into his pockets and returned to the car.

Smith then called Sheriff's Authorities.

Entering the restaurant Chmielewski purchased a cup of coffee. Teeters then entered the cafe when Smith accused Chmielewski of taking the money.

Teeters questioned Chmielewski if he took the money and replied he did. Teeters then went to the car where the money was hidden and took it to Smith.

Deputies Dan Dewey and Billy Huffman arrived and apprehended the men and transported them to the county jail, where Smith later filed charges.

Deputies recovered $136.

One-Year-Old Child Hurt In Accident

Twenty-year-old Larry Cole, Route 1, Ashville, was referred to a physician for a lacerated nose, when he was involved in a single-car accident, 3:30 a.m. today.

According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy James Fite, Cole was southbound on the Circleville-Groveport Road when he traveled off the right berm into a ditch.

The vehicle came to rest after striking a utility pole.

A two-car accident on Porter's Laundry Parking Lot 12:58 p.m. Wednesday, resulted in one-year-old James Lawrence Blue III receiving contusions and abrasions to the forehead.

Roxann Denise Blue, 23, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, was eastbound in the lot coming from the car wash area, when Barbara E. Bost, 26, 464 E. Main St., was backing from a parking space by the laundramat into the front of the Blue vehicle.

Deputy Bill Dountz referred the child to a doctor.

Vietnamese Seek Way Out As Fall Of Saigon Looms

SAIGON (AP) — About 1,500 anxious, well-dressed Vietnamese milled around in front of the U.S. Embassy today trying to get evacuated to the United States.

They clutched at any foreigner.

"Please can you help me," said a woman with three children, one of them fathered by an American. She unfolded a worn letter with brown dirt in the creases and said: "This paper say I live with my boy friend. He go America now. How can I go?"

The word that the Americans are evacuating Vietnamese has finally begun to spread around Saigon even though the local papers are playing the news down.

"It's the bamboo telephone," said an American.

The crowd, mostly women, formed a line 100 yards long and three deep. But the Embassy gates remained closed and few Americans were seen.

Rumors were rife, accurate information in short supply.

The only information provided by the Embassy came from a Vietnamese equipped with a bullhorn who walked up and down telling what documents were needed to qualify for evacuation. The crowd ignored him because he didn't tell them what they wanted to hear.

Most of the people had worked for the U.S. armed forces or American companies at some time during the war.

Hoosier Solons Back In Session

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana lawmakers returned today after an eight-day recess.

While Republicans and Democrats on the budget conference committee remain far apart, other legislators turned to the still unfinished business facing the assembly.

The legislature's regular session must end by April 30, and only two session days remain. Senate President Pro Tem Phillip Gutman said Wednesday there is no basis in fact for being optimistic that an accord on the budget will be reached.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks were lower again today, with traders concerned by a flow of poor first-quarter earnings and the threat of a new round of higher interest rates.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 2.35 at 800.14 at noon, somewhat improved from the 5 point loss registered in the first trading hour. But declines kept a 2 to 1 lead over advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

First-quarter earnings, generally on the poor side, gave fresh evidence of the depths of the recession, analysts said. In addition, Wall Street remained concerned that the government will have to borrow heavily in the money markets to finance the federal budget deficit, thus adding upward pressure on short-term interest rates.

The NYSE's composite stock index gave up 0.18 to 45.46, while the American Stock Exchange's market-value index was off 0.29 at 83.28.

Police said the pair, armed with M1 carbines, ordered five employees and two customers in the Indiana National Bank branch, to lie face down on the floor. Witnesses said one robber entered the vault, grabbed a bulging bank bag and fled.

Police said one man entered a Merchants National Bank branch, handed a teller a note demanding money and fled with "several hundred dollars." The man wore sunglasses, a sweatshirt with a hood that hid his face and multi-colored jeans.

Witherspoon, police said, was released from the Ohio Penitentiary about two weeks ago where he had served a sentence for breaking and entering, grand larceny, and rape.

Police found that he was carrying $90.40 when they arrested him.

Ironically, Circleville City Council early in the month voted to create a satellite fire station for the city fire department to allow firefighters access to the city's south end in the event of blocked train tracks.

2 Charged With Theft Of Money

Two men were arrested by Pickaway County Sheriff's Authorities for petit theft of $138.34 in money at the Gold Cliff Park Service Station, Wednesday.

Charles J. Chmielewski, 18, Orlando, Fla., and Henry Teeters, 25, Portsmouth, entered the station around 4:30 p.m., located on Route 23, south of Circleville, requesting assistance of the attendant with his auto.

While the attendant was assisting Teeters, Chmielewski walked to the booth and removed money from the cash register in full view of service manager, Tom Smith, who was standing inside the restaurant.

Chmielewski went to the rear of the restaurant and emptied the money box into his pockets and returned to the car.

Smith then called Sheriff's Authorities.

Entering the restaurant Chmielewski purchased a cup of coffee. Teeters then entered the cafe when Smith accused Chmielewski of taking the money.

Teeters questioned Chmielewski if he took the money and replied he did. Teeters then went to the car where the money was hidden and took it to Smith.

Deputies Dan Dewey and Billy Huffman arrived and apprehended the men and transported them to the county jail, where Smith later filed charges.

Deputies recovered $136.

One-Year-Old Child Hurt In Accident

Twenty-year-old Larry Cole, Route 1, Ashville, was referred to a physician for a lacerated nose, when he was involved in a single-car accident, 3:30 a.m. today.

According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy James Fite, Cole was southbound on the Circleville-Groveport Road when he traveled off the right berm into a ditch.

The vehicle came to rest after striking a utility pole.

A two-car accident on Porter's Laundry Parking Lot 12:58 p.m. Wednesday, resulted in one-year-old James Lawrence Blue III receiving contusions and abrasions to the forehead.

Roxann Denise Blue, 23, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, was eastbound in the lot coming from the car wash area, when Barbara E. Bost, 26, 464 E. Main St., was backing from a parking space by the laundramat into the front of the Blue vehicle.

Deputy Bill Dountz referred the child to a doctor.

Vietnamese Seek Way Out As Fall Of Saigon Looms

SAIGON (AP) — About 1,500 anxious, well-dressed Vietnamese milled around in front of the U.S. Embassy today trying to get evacuated to the United States.

They clutched at any foreigner.

"Please can you help me," said a woman with three children, one of them fathered by an American. She unfolded a worn letter with brown dirt in the creases and said: "This paper says I live with my boy friend. He go America now. How can I go?"

The word that the Americans are evacuating Vietnamese has finally begun to spread around Saigon even though the local papers are playing the news down.

"It's the bamboo telephone," said an American.

The crowd, mostly women, formed a line 100 yards long and three deep. But the Embassy gates remained closed and few Americans were seen.

Rumors were rife, accurate information in short supply.

The only information provided by the Embassy came from a Vietnamese equipped with a bullhorn who walked up and down telling what documents were needed to qualify for evacuation. The crowd ignored him because he didn't tell them what they wanted to hear.

Most of the people had worked for the U.S. armed forces or American companies at some time during the war.

Hoosier Solons Back In Session

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana lawmakers returned today after an eight-day recess.

While Republicans and Democrats on the budget conference committee remain far apart, other legislators turned to the still unfinished business facing the assembly.

The legislature's regular session must end by April 30, and only two session days remain. Senate President Pro Tem Phillip Gutman said Wednesday there is no basis in fact for being optimistic that an accord on the budget will be reached.

war. These people, among the least scarred by the war, now see the halcyon days coming to an end.

Few knew what they would do in the United States. They all had friends somewhere. Many had telegrams from boy friends and the American Red Cross.

A schoolboy with hair combed to one side flashed some papers and said: "I have relatives in America. Can you help me? My family can pay you very well if you can guarantee us."

The crowd continued to grow but remained orderly. A number of people asked what was going to happen in the war and walked away dejectedly when told Saigon would probably lose shortly.

Civil Jury Seated Today

A jury was seated this morning in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court to hear a civil case where Robert S. Boggs is the plaintiff and Robert E. Tootle and others are the defendants.

The case involves the plaintiff's claim for $1,696.50 plus interest since March 27, 1974 for services performed on the repair of a residence.

Roy Huffer, attorney for the defendant, has filed a counter-claim against the plaintiff in the amount of $10,000 for compensatory damages and $50,000 for punitive damages. The defense alleges that Boggs left the job uncompleted.

Boggs is represented by Stephen Gussler.

Jurors impaneled this morning are Earl Rhoades, Betty J. Andrews, Phyllis L. Kline, Louise S. Brown, Harriet B. Kaylor, Francine M. Peters, Doris Green and Juanita P. McFadden. Normagene Rittinger was selected as an alternate.

1973 Viet Accords Just Scraps Of Paper

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Calls in France, the United States and elsewhere for talks on "implementation of the 1973 Paris agreements" on Vietnam have an eerie sound of unreality, now that those agreements are in shambles.

The Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government—PRG—man in Paris indicates it's ready to negotiate. Indeed, on the basis of the terms it lays down, it is probably eager.

France, the original source of American woes in Indochina, has been campaigning for talks based on the 1973 accords, the suggestion seeming to be that the agreements would be implemented by observance of the article calling for a "National Council of Reconciliation and Concord."

The article stipulated a council of three equal segments representing the Saigon government, neutrals and the PRG side. Hypothetically there could be talks based on that article now, but actually that would be little more than a cosmetic exercise.

The PRG is saying now nothing different from what it said since its birth in 1969 as a vehicle for supporting a Viet Cong claim to legitimacy. What did the PRG demand then and what now?

It demanded and demands complete departure of the Americans from the scene, which is just about accomplished, and the replacement of the "Nguyen Van Thieu clique."

President Thieu is gone, but the PRG-North Vietnamese attacks on his successor show clearly a claim to the right to say just what persons make up that "clique." Whatever southerners might now be acceptable as representatives of a Saigon regime and neutrals would negotiate in a capital surrounded by victorious North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and be looking down the barrels of Soviet weapons.

What's left of those 1973 accords for which the two principal negotiators, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnamese Politburo member Le Duc Tho, were awarded Nobel Peace prizes?

Not much but shreds of paper. The four parties to the accords — Americans, North Vietnamese, South Vietnamese and Viet Cong — agreed in 1973 to halt all acts of force on ground or sea or in the air and forego all hostile acts of terror and reprisal.

The two sides in the South were to accept no introduction of troops, military advisers, armaments or war materiel except a one-for-one replacement of destroyed or damaged materiel.

The two sides in the South were to consult "in a spirit of national reconciliation and concord" and set up the Reconciliation Council of equal segments to operate on the principle of unanimity. That was to have been done in 90 days, so it's now two years overdue. In any case, the "unanimity principle" probably would have paralyzed it as it has so often paralyzed the United Nations Security Council.

Reunification of Vietnam was to be carried out "step by step" by peaceful means and without coercion. Both sides were to respect the Demilitarized Zone between North and South.

Violations were innumerable and blatantly conspicuous. Now what's left of South Vietnam faces a set of faits accomplis.

Early in May comes the 21st anniversary of Dien Bien Phu, where North Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh defeated

France after seven bloody years of war. Now, after almost 30 years of fighting, would Hanoi be likely to surrender the long-sought fruits of it all? If there is hope for negotiation on the basis of the 1973 accords, why the almost panicky evacuation of South Vietnam by Americans, in such an atmosphere of hopelessness?

There has been a slowdown in the North Vietnamese-Viet Cong attack on Saigon, but that followed a predictable pattern and suggested a will to make the victory look a bit less than naked military conquest.

Perhaps there will be talks, perhaps even an agreement, but it most likely would be the agreement wanted by Hanoi, which holds all the initiative. Hanoi has said all along there must be only one, unified Vietnam and has made clear who it thinks should rule it.

McElroy Special Consultant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John M. McElroy, former chief aide to Gov. James A. Rhodes, was named by the governor Tuesday as a special consultant on intergovernmental fiscal relations.

McElroy was named for three months at the $3,000-per-month post to assist in the operation of the state Clearing House, which coordinates the needs of state and local government with available federal grant programs.

Rhodes said McElroy has "an intimate knowledge of the workings of government, and I feel he is ideally suited to help in this important area."

"Ohioans are being shortchanged in the return of federal funds to the state," Rhodes added. "We need a man of John McElroy's ability to help us reverse that pattern."

McElroy, who was the governor's executive assistant during the eight years of Rhodes' previous two terms and served at the post briefly at the start of this term, said:

"I will recommend to the governor actions required to maximize the benefits available and minimize disadvantages flowing from the federal programs."

He assumes the post next Monday.

1973 Viet Accords Just Scraps Of Paper

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Calls in France, the United States and elsewhere for talks on "implementation of the 1973 Paris agreements" on Vietnam have an eerie sound of unreality, now that those agreements are in shambles.

The Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government—PRG—man in Paris indicates it's ready to negotiate. Indeed, on the basis of the terms it lays down, it is probably eager.

France, the original source of American woes in Indochina, has been campaigning for talks based on the 1973 accords, the suggestion seeming to be that the agreements would be implemented by observance of the article calling for a "National Council of Reconciliation and Concord."

The article stipulated a council of three equal segments representing the Saigon government, neutrals and the PRG side. Hypothetically there could be talks based on that article now, but actually that would be little more than a cosmetic exercise.

The PRG is saying now nothing different from what it said since its birth in 1969 as a vehicle for supporting a Viet Cong claim to legitimacy. What did the PRG demand then and what now?

It demanded and demands complete departure of the Americans from the scene, which is just about accomplished, and the replacement of the "Nguyen Van Thieu clique."

President Thieu is gone, but the PRG-North Vietnamese attacks on his successor show clearly a claim to the right to say just what persons make up that "clique." Whatever southerners might now be acceptable as representatives of a Saigon regime and neutrals would negotiate in a capital surrounded by victorious North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and be looking down the barrels of Soviet weapons.

What's left of those 1973 accords for which the two principal negotiators, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnamese Politburo member Le Duc Tho, were awarded Nobel Peace prizes?

Not much but shreds of paper.

The four parties to the accords — Americans, North Vietnamese, South Vietnamese and Viet Cong — agreed in 1973 to halt all acts of force on ground or sea or in the air and forego all hostile acts of terror and reprisal.

The two sides in the South were to accept no introduction of troops, military advisers, armaments or war materiel except a one-for-one replacement of destroyed or damaged materiel.

The two sides in the South were to consult "in a spirit of national reconciliation and concord" and set up the Reconciliation Council of equal segments to operate on the principle of unanimity. That was to have been done in 90 days, so it's now two years overdue. In any case, the "unanimity principle" probably would have paralyzed it as it has so often paralyzed the United Nations Security Council.

Reunification of Vietnam was to be carried out "step by step" by peaceful means and without coercion. Both sides were to respect the Demilitarized Zone between North and South.

Violations were innumerable and blatantly conspicuous. Now what's left of South Vietnam faces a set of faits accomplis.

Early in May comes the 21st anniversary of Dien Bien Phu, where North Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh defeated

France after seven bloody years of war. Now, after almost 30 years of fighting, would Hanoi be likely to surrender the long-sought fruits of it all? If there is hope for negotiation on the basis of the 1973 accords, why the almost panicky evacuation of South Vietnam by Americans, in such an atmosphere of hopelessness?

There has been a slowdown in the North Vietnamese-Viet Cong attack on Saigon, but that followed a predictable pattern and suggested a will to make the victory look a bit less than naked military conquest.

Perhaps there will be talks, perhaps

McElroy Special Consultant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John M. McElroy, former chief aide to Gov. James A. Rhodes, was named by the governor Tuesday as a special consultant on intergovernmental fiscal relations.

McElroy was named for three months at the $3,000-per-month post to assist in the operation of the state Clearing House, which coordinates the needs of state and local government with available federal grant programs.

Rhodes said McElroy has "an intimate knowledge of the workings of government, and I feel he is ideally suited to help in this important area."

"Ohioans are being shortchanged in the return of federal funds to the state," Rhodes added. "We need a man of John McElroy's ability to help us reverse that pattern."

McElroy, who was the governor's executive assistant during the eight years of Rhodes' previous two terms and served at the post briefly at the start of this term, said:

"I will recommend to the governor actions required to maximize the benefits available and minimize disadvantages flowing from the federal programs."

He assumes the post next Monday.

Remember Lou Nova?

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Remember Lou Nova? You should. He beat Max Baer twice, fought Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship of the world, went into the movies, did stage and TV work, lectures, has been overseas for the USO, and writes poetry.

Sample of latter, which Nova inscrutably titled "The Bells" —

Hear the ringing of the bells
Ding-dong bells
I love the ringing of the bells
Of the bells, bells, bells
Bells, bells, bells
Happy little, pretty little
Ding-dong bells.

Lou invented what he called the "Cosmic Punch" even before Russia invented the Cosmonauts. It worked on a lot of ring opponents but not on Louis. Joe was unimpressed. So he flattened Lou in six rounds.

Nova recently had a quarrel with a semantic nature with Elks Lodge No. 1285 of Monterey, California. He has sent me the exchange of correspondence between himself and Mr. and Mrs. Don Whittemore. It might be called ding-dong belles letters.

"Dear Mr. Nova," Mr. Whittemore wrote, opening the hostilities. "I have the responsibility of lining up guest speakers for some of our functions, particularly for our Wednesday night membership meetings — all stag."

"The purpose of this letter is to inquire as to your fees and arrangements for a 30-45 minute show coming after dinner on our meeting night — usually the first Wednesday of each month."

"I understand you are a very interesting and entertaining speaker and hope we can come to some sort of an arrangement with you. Sincerely yours, Don Whittemore."

Lou took umbrage. On the stationery of his Hollywood company "Lou Nova Enterprises — 'Nova Stands the World on Its Head'" (Lou was a practitioner of yoga during his ring career) the retired boxer fired a righteous broadside:

"Dear Don: I'd love to come up to entertain at the Elks Lodge No. 1285 in Monterey for one of your Wednesday night membership meetings."

"I do notice that you mention that the meetings are all stag. The connotation is that you probably expect me to be a toilet comedian. This I am not; in fact, I bill myself as the 'No Toilet Comedian' as I do not think (deleted) (censored) (obscenity) are worthy of a talented entertainer's repertoire."

"I believe you will find my humor is very adequate for both sexes. Last weekend I entertained for the Opera Reading Club of Los Angeles, and not long ago for the Ladies California Garden Club Convention at the Beverly Hilton Hotel."

"Why don't you include the ladies in your next Wednesday night meeting, and I will do up to an hour or whatever is needed of clean, funny material. I will do my $500 show for you as a special for $300."

"Do hope to hear from you soon. If I don't, well, go (stricken) by fainting editor). Best - Lou Nova."

Several days later, Lou heard from Mrs. Whittemore as follows:

"Mr. Nova:

"Having written my husband's letter to you asking about your availability for a speaking engagement at an Elks' Lodge Wednesday Nite meeting, I asked him to allow me to reply to your courteous and elegantly phrased letter."

"Obviously the word 'stag' has only one meaning to you: a 'dirty' show. The Elks meeting on Wed. nites is their weekly business and social meeting and since they are a men's lodge, women do not attend. I cannot imagine why women would be interested in anything you or any other has-been pug would have to say, especially if it

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Guarantees, sometimes useless ones, often accompany $5 purchases, but for the biggest purchase of all, a home, they have been nearly nonexistent. Now they are available.

Last August the National Association of Homebuilders enrolled the first new home sold under its program. Since then, 10,000 new homes have been registered under its Homeowners Warranty Program.

Sometime in July, the National Association of Realtors hopes to begin an insurance program on resale, or used, homes. Formal approval is anticipated at the annual meeting in Chicago May 5.

Since three times as many used homes are bought and sold each year, the realtors' program could have a more pronounced effect on real estate markets which have been depressed by, among other things, extreme caution on the part of buyers.

Art Leitch, a San Diego realtor and current president of the national association, reports that "many local boards are standing by waiting for this and have been for several months." However, it is up to the individual realtors as to whether they will insist on such insurance accompanying a home they list.

The national association worked out the program with two large casualty insurers and one warranty company who, says Leitch, must remain anonymous until formal contracts are signed in May.

Under the program, the seller would pay one-half of 1 per cent of the selling price for an inspection and clearance by a trained engineer, and insurance for the first year on the home's major components.

Since the median price of a one-family home offered for resale in 1974 was $33,000, the cost of the inspection-insurance program should range generally from about $150 to $200.

Components or segments included were couched in the language that seems to come so easily to you.

"In the future, may I suggest that a courteous inquiry be given an equally courteous reply minus the filth that was so prevalent in your letter. You disgust me!"

"Your services will not be needed. Violet Whittemore."

There the matter seems to rest. Lou, who calculates that he has entertained more people in more fields of interest than any other person in history, adds a footnote:

"Thought you'd get a kick out of the enclosed letters. Am doing well in my speaking bits. Have some real good material. Hope to invade New York this fall... (agate) Halp!"

are plumbing, heating, air-conditioning, wiring, roof and walls, and the structural soundness of floors, ceilings and basements. All items would be covered on a $100 deductible basis.

After the first year the owner can continue the program if he chooses, although it is still too early to determine at what rate. As Leitch sees it, "Our feeling is that if the property is brought up to acceptable condition, we'd think the second-year rate would be lower."

The program is a voluntary one on the part of the realtors, of whom there are more than 110,000 in 50 state associations and 1,658 real estate boards. They may or may not choose to insist that the seller provide such protection.

Moreover, the program is expected to be available to all buyers and sellers, whether they negotiate the transaction through a realtor, who considers himself to be a cut above the ordinary agent in knowledge and experience.

Umbrellas Popular

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority had what it thought was a good rainy-day idea for area commuters.

The SEPTA public relations office decided it would be nice to provide umbrellas for its customers to borrow on rainy days. So umbrella-filled drums were left at the Reading Terminal and the 30th Street Station.

SEPTA reasoned that the project would not only be a courtesy to its riders, but also would clear out some 200 unclaimed umbrellas in its lost and found department.

Commuters apparently took to the idea, and the umbrellas. SEPTA says that within two days all the umbrellas had been borrowed — permanently. Now commuters are finding a new use for the 55-gallon drums used to hold the umbrellas. They're filling them with trash.

"That's okay with us," a SEPTA spokesman said Tuesday. "At least they're being used."

Ladybug Clears Assembly Hurdle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A resolution proclaiming the ladybug as Ohio's state insect cleared its first legislative hurdle Tuesday night with a favorable recommendation by the Senate Commerce and Labor Committee.

Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, won the committee's approval on the strength in part of testimony by some of nearly 50 second and third graders from Lincolnshire Elementary School in Toledo.

They came dressed as ladybugs to a committee hearing last week and lobbied for passage, hoping to make it a successful culmination of their efforts in a class project pointing up the tiny insect's agricultural importance.

"I was waiting for a boy scout, really, but I suppose you'll serve my purpose."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

All of us in the family are allergic. Now I've been told that I should undergo tests. I hesitate because up to now, treatment of my brother and sister has not been satisfactory.

Miss G.L., Tex.

Dear Miss L.:

Many people have been studied for allergic reaction to hundreds of substances and then treated for long periods of time.

In many instances, there does not seem to be an obvious beneficial effect. Yet this must not discourage you from giving it a try if it has been suggested by your doctor.

Perhaps some comprehension of the difficulties of pinpointing the substances to which a person may be allergic will make you more sympathetic to the problems a doctor must encounter in tracking down the offender.

There is an almost limitless variety and range of substances that may cause allergic responses to a sensitive individual. These are known as "allergens." Some may be swallowed. Others may be inhaled. The third group may be those substances that people are in contact with, like cosmetics, clothes and chemicals. Drugs, too, may cause allergic reactions.

To make matters more difficult, a highly allergic person may be sensitive to more than one substance, or to a combination of them.

In addition, people may be sensitive to their own bacteria. This often accounts for the acute onset of asthma following a cold.

It takes intense investigation to locate the allergen responsible for asthma, colitis, severe hives, and the many other conditions known to be allergic in origin.

Skin testing is not indiscriminately suggested. You must, therefore, follow your doctor's suggestion if a severe allergy is to be eventually controlled.

Is ileitis another word for appendicitis?

Mr. H. J. H., N.C.

Dear Mr. H.:

Ileitis, sometimes known as "terminal ileitis," is an irritation or infection of the lower part of the small intestine. Here, it joins up with the large intestine.

It is in this area that the appendix is located. Attacks of pain in the lower abdominal area and severe cramps may be characteristic of both appendicitis and ileitis. They are, however, totally different diseases.

In the early stages of ileitis it is sometimes difficult to differentiate between these two conditions.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

House Bill No. 10 concerns you. If a woman is assaulted and/or raped, it prohibits entering as evidence any information from her past. Should information from a woman's past (e.g. - prostitute) be seen as pertinent, a private chamber hearing (with judge presiding, the woman, her attorney, and the defendant's attorney present) must be held to determine the relevancy and necessity of making such information public in the rape case.

Think about it! Right now, rape laws offer more protection to the rapist than to the victim. He could have been previously charged ten times with rape. But the fact (from his past) is not admissible as evidence in a rape case, according to present Ohio rape statutes. And yet, if YOU are raped, anything from your past can be dug up and used against you in court. Think about it! While being mischievous in high school, an avid party-goer in college, or a middle-aged person who enjoys a walk in the brisk night air may have been innocent and common enough at the time—next month, next year, ten years from now, that innocent and common event could be twisted by the defendant's attorney to make you out as nothing more than a very promiscuous woman who got what she deserved. That may sound like a highly exaggerated statement. But ask any woman who has been raped, or any clinic worker who deals with rape victims; and, they'll tell you it is a very real, very true, very ugly fact.

House Bill No. 10 will protect you and your rights. But it desperately needs your support. Several weeks ago this bill was passed from the Reference Committee to the Judiciary Committee for further legislative consideration. At that time it was and still is fighting a political battle against several comprehensive bills. It is a fact to all of us that comprehensive bills take a great deal of time in being ratified, as there are so many aspects and points of constitutionality to consider. That's why HB 10 is so vitally important. I am sad to report, however, that these comprehensive bills and their patrons have managed to monopolize the Committee's consideration. Consequently, HB 10 has been 'shelved' indefinitely.

This timely bill will protect you. But it cannot do so without your support.

Write a letter urging Judiciary Committee Chairman Harry J. Lehman to get this bill off the shelf and onto the floor for committee consideration. Address your letter to the Statehouse Building, Columbus, Ohio 43215. It is crucial that Chairman Lehman receive your letter, as he has the final say in whether or not a bill is worth the committee's time. Let him know by your support that this bill is worth their time. You may send carbon copies of your letter to your own congressman, and to one or more of the Judiciary Committee members.

Members are: Chairman Harry J. Lehman, Dennis E. Eckhart, Paul R. Leonard, Irene B. Smart, Charles R. Saxbe, John P. Bradenberg, Michael G. Oxley, Robert A. Nader, Edward F. Feighan, Edward J. Orlett, Mike Stinziano, Richard F. Maier, James E. Betts, C. W. O'Neill, Arthur V. N. Brooks, William J. Healy, Marcus A. Roberto, William Batchelder, Richard H. Finan, Kenneth Rocco.

Address these letters to the Statehouse Building, Columbus, Ohio 43215.

Circleville is not an isolated community. Nor is rape an isolated phenomena peculiar only to Chicago, Detroit or New York City. It can happen to anyone, anytime, anywhere. Statistics prove it: a woman is raped every seven minutes somewhere in the United States. The rapes that are reported represent only 15 per cent of the total number that occur. Men, if you love your wives and daughters; and women, if you respect yourselves, your privacy and your lives, you'll support this bill. —NOW.— The lives and rights of so many are at stake. Every minute wasted is a life lost.

Bootleg Tapes Measure Passes

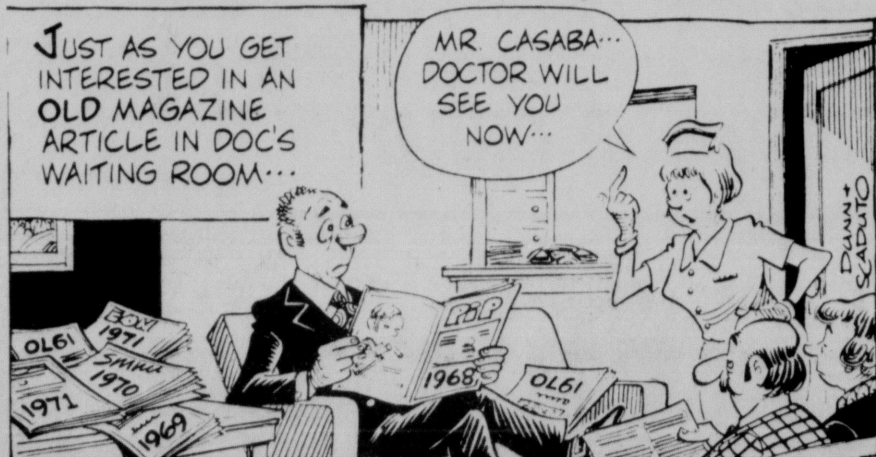

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill setting criminal penalties for making or selling bootleg records or tapes cleared the House on Tuesday.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Troy Lee James, D-9 Cleveland, passed by an 87-0 vote. It now goes to the Senate.

The bill would outlaw producing, advertising or selling the pirated recordings, with each transcription or sale being a separate offense.

Violation would be a misdemeanor.

NEW YORK — Remember Lou Nova? You should. He beat Max Baer twice, fought Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship of the world, went into the movies, did stage and TV work, lectures, has been overseas for the USO, and writes poetry.

Sample of latter, which Nova inscrutably titled "The Bells" —
Hear the ringing of the bells
Ding-dong bells
I love the ringing of the bells
Of the bells, bells, bells
Bells, bells, bells.
Happy little, pretty little
Ding-dong bells.

Lou invented what he called the "Cosmic Punch" even before Russia invented the Cosmonauts. It worked on a lot of ring opponents but not on Louis. Joe was unimpressed. So he flattened Lou in six rounds.

Nova recently had a quarrel of a semantic nature with Elks Lodge No. 1285 of Monterey, California. He has sent me the exchange of correspondence between himself and Mr. and Mrs. Don Whittemore. It might be called ding-dong belles letters.

"Dear Mr. Nova," Mr. Whittemore wrote, opening the hostilities. "I have the responsibility of lining up guest speakers for some of our functions, particularly for our Wednesday night membership meetings — all stag."

"The purpose of this letter is to inquire as to your fees and arrangements for a 30-45 minute show coming after dinner on our meeting night — usually the first Wednesday of each month."

"I understand you are a very interesting and entertaining speaker and hope we can come to some sort of an arrangement with you. Sincerely yours, Don Whittemore."

Lou took umbrage. On the stationery of his Hollywood company "Lou Nova Enterprises — 'Nova Stands the World on Its Head'" (Lou was a practitioner of yoga during his ring career) the retired boxer fired a righteous broadside:

"Dear Don: I'd love to come up to entertain at the Elks Lodge No. 1285 in Monterey for one of your Wednesday night membership meetings."

"I do notice that you mention that the meetings are all stag. The connotation is that you probably expect me to be a toilet comedian. This I am not; in fact, I bill myself as the 'No Toilet Comedian' as I do not think (deleted) (censored) (obscenity) are worthy of a talented entertainer's repertoire."

"I believe you will find my humor is very adequate for both sexes. Last weekend I entertained for the Opera Reading Club of Los Angeles, and not long ago for the Ladies California Garden Club Convention at the Beverly Hilton Hotel."

"Why don't you include the ladies in your next Wednesday night meeting, and I will do up to an hour or whatever is needed of clean, funny material. I will do my $500 show for you as a special for $300."

"Do hope to hear from you soon. If I don't, well, go (stricken by fainting editor). Best — Lou Nova."

Several days later, Lou heard from Mrs. Whittemore as follows:

"Mr. Nova:

"Having written my husband's letter to you asking about your availability for a speaking engagement at an Elks' Lodge Wednesday Nite meeting, I asked him to allow me to reply to your courteous and elegantly phrased letter."

"Obviously the word 'stag' has only one meaning to you: a 'dirty' show. The Elks meeting on Wed. nites is their weekly business and social meeting and since they are a men's lodge, women do not attend. I cannot imagine why women would be interested in anything you or any other has-been pug would have to say, especially if it

NEW YORK (AP) — Guarantees, sometimes useless ones, often accompany $5 purchases, but for the biggest purchase of all, a home, they have been nearly nonexistent. Now they are available.

Last August the National Association of Homebuilders enrolled the first new home sold under its program. Since then, 10,000 new homes have been registered under its Homeowners Warranty Program.

Sometime in July, the National Association of Realtors hopes to begin an insurance program on resale, or used, homes. Formal approval is anticipated at the annual meeting in Chicago May 5.

Since three times as many used homes are bought and sold each year, the realtors' program could have a more pronounced effect on real estate markets which have been depressed by, among other things, extreme caution on the part of buyers.

Art Leitch, a San Diego realtor and current president of the national association, reports that "many local boards are standing by waiting for this and have been for several months." However, it is up to the individual realtors as to whether they will insist on such insurance accompanying a home they list.

The national association worked out the program with two large casualty insurers and one warranty company who, says Leitch, must remain anonymous until formal contracts are signed in May.

Under the program, the seller would pay one-half of 1 per cent of the selling price for an inspection and clearance by a trained engineer, and insurance for the first year on the home's major components.

Since the median price of a one-family home offered for resale in 1974 was $33,000, the cost of the inspection-insurance program should range generally from about $150 to $200.

Components or segments included

are plumbing, heating, air-conditioning, wiring, roof and walls, and the structural soundness of floors, ceilings and basements. All items would be covered on a $100 deductible basis.

After the first year the owner can continue the program if he chooses, although it is still too early to determine at what rate. As Leitch sees it, "Our feeling is that if the property is brought up to acceptable condition, we'd think the second-year rate would be lower."

The program is a voluntary one on the part of the realtors, of whom there are more than 110,000 in 50 state associations and 1,658 real estate boards. They may or may not choose to insist that the seller provide such protection.

Moreover, the program is expected to be available to all buyers and sellers, whether they negotiate the transaction through a realtor, who considers himself to be a cut above the ordinary agent in knowledge and experience.

Umbrellas Popular

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority had what it thought was a good rainy-day idea for area commuters.

The SEPTA public relations office decided it would be nice to provide umbrellas for its customers to borrow on rainy days. So umbrella-filled drums were left at the Reading Terminal and the 30th Street Station.

SEPTA reasoned that the project would not only be a courtesy to its riders, but also would clear out some 200 unclaimed umbrellas in its lost and found department.

Commuters apparently took to the idea, and the umbrellas. SEPTA says that within two days all the umbrellas had been borrowed — permanently. Now commuters are finding a new use for the 55-gallon drums used to hold the umbrellas. They're filling them with trash.

"That's okay with us," a SEPTA spokesman said Tuesday. "At least they're being used."

Ladybug Clears Assembly Hurdle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A resolution proclaiming the ladybug as Ohio's state insect cleared its first legislative hurdle Tuesday night with a favorable recommendation by the Senate Commerce and Labor Committee.

Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, won the committee's approval on the strength in part of testimony by some of nearly 50 second and third graders from Lincolnshire Elementary School in Toledo.

They came dressed as ladybugs to a committee hearing last week and lobbied for passage, hoping to make it a successful culmination of their efforts in a class project pointing up the tiny insect's agricultural importance.

"I was waiting for a boy scout, really, but I suppose you'll serve my purpose."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

All of us in the family are allergic. Now I've been told that I should undergo tests. I hesitate because up to now, treatment of my brother and sister has not been satisfactory.

Miss G.L., Tex.

Dear Miss L.:

Many people have been studied for allergic reaction to hundreds of substances and then treated for long periods of time.

In many instances, there does not seem to be an obvious beneficial effect. Yet this must not discourage you from giving it a try if it has been suggested by your doctor.

Perhaps some comprehension of the difficulties of pinpointing the substances to which a person may be allergic will make you more sympathetic to the problems a doctor must encounter in tracking down the offender.

There is an almost limitless variety and range of substances that may cause allergic responses to a sensitive individual. These are known as "allergens." Some may be swallowed. Others may be inhaled. The third group may be those substances that people are in contact with, like cosmetics, clothes and chemicals. Drugs, too, may cause allergic reactions.

To make matters more difficult, a highly allergic person may be sensitive to more than one substance, or to a combination of them.

In addition, people may be sensitive to their own bacteria. This often accounts for the acute onset of asthma following a cold.

It takes intense investigation to locate the allergen responsible for asthma, colitis, severe hives, and the many other conditions known to be allergic in origin.

Skin testing is not indiscriminately suggested. You must, therefore, follow your doctor's suggestion if a severe allergy is to be eventually controlled.

Is ileitis another word for appendicitis?

Mr. H. J. H., N.C.

Dear Mr. H.:

Ileitis, sometimes known as "terminal ileitis," is an irritation or infection of the lower part of the small intestine. Here, it joins up with the large intestine.

It is in this area that the appendix is located. Attacks of pain in the lower abdominal area and severe cramps may be characteristic of both appendicitis and ileitis. They are, however, totally different diseases.

In the early stages of ileitis it is sometimes difficult to differentiate between these two conditions.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

House Bill No. 10 concerns you. If a woman is assaulted and/or raped, it prohibits entering as evidence any information from her past. Should information from a woman's past (e.g. - prostitute) be seen as pertinent, a private chamber hearing (with judge presiding, the woman, her attorney, and the defendant's attorney present) must be held to determine the relevancy and necessity of making such information public in the rape case.

Think about it! Right now, rape laws offer more protection to the rapist than to the victim. He could have been previously charged ten times with rape. But the fact (from his past) is not admissible as evidence in a rape case, according to present Ohio rape statutes. And yet, if YOU are raped, anything from your past can be dug up and used against you in court. Think about it! While being mischievous in high school, an avid party-goer in college, or a middle-aged person who enjoys a walk in the brisk night air may have been innocent and common enough at the time—next month, next year, ten years from now, that innocent and common event could be twisted by the defendant's attorney to make you out as nothing more than a very promiscuous woman who got what she deserved. That may sound like a highly exaggerated statement. But ask any woman who has been raped, or any clinic worker who deals with rape victims; and they'll tell you it is a very real, very true, very ugly fact.

House Bill No. 10 will protect you and your rights. But it desperately needs your support. Several weeks ago this bill was passed from the Reference Committee to the Judiciary Committee for further legislative consideration. At that time it was and still is fighting a political battle against several comprehensive bills. It is a fact to all of us that comprehensive bills take a great deal of time in being ratified, as there are so many aspects and points of constitutionalality to consider. That's why HB 10 is so vitally important. It is succinct, specific and constitutional. I am sad to report, however, that these comprehensive bills and their patrons have managed to monopolize the Committee's consideration. Consequently, HB 10 has been 'shelved' indefinitely.

This timely bill will protect you. But it cannot do so without your support. Write a letter urging Judiciary Committee Chairman Harry J. Lehman to get this bill off the shelf and onto the floor for committee consideration. Address your letter to the Statehouse Building, Columbus, Ohio 43215. It is crucial that Chairman Lehman receive your letter, as he has the final say in whether or not a bill is worth the committee's time. Let him know by your support that this bill is worth their time. You may send carbon copies of your letter to your own congressman, and to one or more of the Judiciary Committee members.

Members are: Chairman Harry J. Lehman, Dennis E. Eckhart, Paul R. Leonard, Irene B. Smart, Charles R. Saxbe, John P. Bradenberger, Michael G. Oxley, Robert A. Nader, Edward F. Feighan, Edward J. Orlett, Mike Stinziano, Richard F. Maier, James E. Betts, C. W. O'Neill, Arthur V. N. Brooks, William J. Healy, Marcus A. Roberto, William Batchelder, Richard H. Finan, Kenneth Rocco.

Address these letters to the Statehouse Building, Columbus, Ohio 43215.

Circleville is not an isolated community. Nor is rape an isolated phenomena peculiar only to Chicago, Detroit or New York City. It can happen to anyone, anytime, anywhere. Statistics prove it: a woman is raped every seven minutes somewhere in the United States. The rapes that are reported represent only 15 per cent of the total number that occur. Men, if you love your wives and daughters; and women, if you respect yourselves, your privacy and your lives, you'll support this bill. —NOW.— The lives and rights of so many are at stake. Every minute wasted is a life lost.

Gravel Pit Job Brings New Life

CEDARVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Robert D. Johnson, 24, had a job one winter in a gravel pit. They closed the gravel pit. "I sat there in the shack answering the phone, telling people we weren't there," Johnson said. That's when Johnson looked for something better in life. Two years ago he found it in a form of art involving painting and a sort of sculpture. Johnson calls it bark art.

Botulism Not Found

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Agriculture and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration Tuesday cleared a lot of canned mushrooms for any trace of botulism. Tests by the FDA in Cincinnati are continuing to see if there may be any other harmful bacteria present in the lot, the FDA said. The testing began two weeks ago after an eight ounce can of Heritage House brand mushrooms was removed from a central Ohio supermarket shelf after it was found to be bulging. Fisher Foods, Inc. of Cleveland, distributors of Heritage House, recalled the eight ounce cans with the code numbers LK 403 P1 from store shelves throughout the state. Consumers were cautioned not to eat them at the time. The FDA said the mushrooms were also distributed under the brands Giant Pride, Richlieu and Quaker State in Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania and the Los Angeles area in California.

Vietnam War America's Longest

Virtual end of hostilities came in 1781 with British Gen. Cornwallis' surrender at Yorktown Heights, Va., but the official end came with recognition of U.S. Independence in 1783. George Washington said farewell to his troops later that year.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Alarm Clock Ticks Her Off

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a wonderful professor. I also work. About three times a week he arises early to work on a special project or to attend an early faculty meeting, so he sets the alarm for 30 minutes earlier than he really has to get up. When the alarm goes off, it awakens both of us. He then sets it for 30 minutes later, rolls over and dozes until the alarm goes off again.

Meanwhile, I am being robbed of 30 minutes of sleep.

I think he should be a big enough boy to set the alarm once for the time he has to get up.

Is there a solution? Please don't suggest separate bedrooms because I'd rather lose sleep than lose HIM.

Sign this, "For whom the bell does NOT toll" or

"TICKED OFF"

DEAR TICKED: Have you asked him to please knock off the two-alarm routine? If not, do. If he refuses, insist on a compromise whereby he sets the alarm twice every other time.

DEAR ABBY: That letter about the wife who didn't like her husband's mustache brought back memories.

Years ago, I had the same problem. I waited patiently for my husband to shave off a big walrus mustache he had grown "just to see how it looked."

Finally, one day when he was asleep on the couch, I got scissors and nipped off one side of it! He awakened with a start and said, "What's coming off here?"

I sweetly said, "Your mustache, dear."

He laughed and kissed me. And he never grew another mustache again.

AN 85 YEAR-OLD WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: You're lucky your husband was so good-natured. I'll bet some wives have ended up in the divorce court for less.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice about telling late-comers to come an hour ahead of time you really want them will not work. I know. I used to be anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour late every time, and no amount of kidding or criticism would change me.

One Christmas Eve some close friends (I'll call them the "Greens") invited me to drive with them to their parents' lovely country home. I was to be at the Greens' at 6 p.m.

"Please, this time don't be late," they pleaded. "It's a long drive, and we want to leave at 6 p.m. sharp!"

Of course I was late, but as I walked up their front stairs, I looked at my watch and saw it was only 6:15—which was "early" for me. But the house was dark and there was a note on their front door: "Sorry, Pal. We waited for you until 6:05."

I was furious. But I will say that I am grateful to the Greens for teaching me a lesson I will never forget.

That was the last time I was ever late.

ON TIME.

CONFIDENTIAL TO C. IN OKLAHOMA CITY: Forget him, dear. He is not mature. A mature person is willing to accept the consequences for his actions. A "man" who sneaks around to see a girl behind her parents' back is immature.

Say Deputy Registrars Being Hurt

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The deputy motor vehicle registrar for Cuyahoga County, Robert Bennett, says many license plate sticker agents are taking a financial pasting because of the extra month stuck on the sales period this year.

Bennett said Wednesday he expects "three or four" of the agents to resign at the end of April.

The 50 cents the agents make on each sale "doesn't go far when you consider rent, utilities and the cost of help," Bennett said.

He said that with the licensing spread over two months this year instead of just one, few people are coming in early to pay their money.

There is "no reason to stretch it over two months," he added.

"People would put it off to the last minute if the offices were open all year."

Persons with last names beginning "A" through "K" must have their new stickers displayed by midnight April 30, but those in the last half of the alphabet have the entire month of May to get legal.

Typically, in previous years, the average profit for a license agent was $500, Bennett said.

"Now, one guy told me he was glad he was losing only $50 a week," he said.

Every one of the 44 places selling stickers reports light traffic, he added.

Speed Limit Cut Working Well

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The worth of "buckle up" slogans, elaborate seat belts and warning buzzers still is up for debate, but Ohio highway safety experts agree the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit has produced life-saving results.

"In my 29 years in law enforcement," said Col. Frank R. Blackstone, state highway patrol superintendent, "I've never seen anything that has so dramatically reduced deaths on our highways."

And, James W. Shocknessy, Ohio Turnpike chairman, said: "I was one of the people who thought 55 was too slow. I told people 60 would be all right. But, 55 has been enforced and 55 has produced results."

Yet, Ohio and 18 other states have not written 55 into permanent law. If they don't do so by June 30, the state faces a cutoff of federal highway funds.

That bugs some legislators.

Rep. Arthur R. Bowers, D-98 Steubenville, sponsor of a 55-mile-an-hour bill, said legislators tell him, "Well, here we are again. Here's the federal government mandating something for us and if we don't do it we're not going to get any federal money."

Sen. William F. Bowen, D-9 Cincinnati, sponsor of a similar bill, quoted the same resentment.

"They don't want Big Daddy holding a club over their heads," he said.

But, both legislators predicted a law will be enacted in time to meet the federal deadline.

Bowers tentatively is ignoring a federal recommendation urging retention of the habitual offender point system in enforcement of the 55 limit.

Bowers' Highways and Highway Safety Committee wants to keep the 15-mile-an-hour allowance in the temporary law which spares speeders license penalty points if they drive over 55 but under 70 on Interstate highways. The committee did decide to make the permanent law absolute to close any legal escape hatch.

"The highways were built for 70 and you'll never make a case if a man's going over 55 (but under 70)," an Ohio Highway Patrol officer testified.

Deaths on Ohio roads dropped by 486 or 20 per cent last year, reflecting a sharp national decline in the fatality rate during the first 12 months of the reduced speed limit, originally instituted as a fuel-saving device.

The state recorded 24 fewer highway fatalities during the first two months of this year.

Highway Safety Director Donald D. Cook credited enforcement and positive citizen reaction to safety education. He favors a permanent law.

"No effort has done as much for safety as the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit," Col. Robert M. Chiaramonte, outgoing patrol chief told Gov. James A. Rhodes and Shocknessy.

Post-Meeting Fisticuffs Part Of Small-Town Charm

GENOA, Nev. (AP) — Citizens of the oldest and one of the smallest Nevada towns are fighting a legislative move to curb their free-wheeling form of "home rule."

Even if town meetings spark fist fights and elections happen irregularly, residents are part of an enthusiastic form of "democracy at the grass roots," said one spokesman.

"Everyone has a chance to say his own thing, as vigorously as he chooses," says Lou Schaffer. He and others active in Genoa affairs feel that residents' enthusiasm will suffer under a bill to standardize government in all 39 of Nevada's unincorporated towns.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Alarm Clock Ticks Her Off

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a wonderful professor. I also work. About three times a week he arises early to work on a special project or to attend an early faculty meeting, so he sets the alarm for 30 minutes earlier than he really has to get up. When the alarm goes off, it awakens both of us. He then sets it for 30 minutes later, rolls over and dozes until the alarm goes off again.

Meanwhile, I am being robbed of 30 minutes of sleep.

I think he should be a big enough boy to set the alarm once for the time he has to get up.

Is there a solution? Please don't suggest separate bedrooms because I'd rather lose sleep than lose HIM.

Sign this, "For whom the bell does NOT toll" or

"TICKED OFF"

DEAR TICKED: Have you asked him to please knock off the two-alarm routine? If not, do. If he refuses, insist on a compromise whereby he sets the alarm twice every other time.

DEAR ABBY: That letter about the wife who didn't like her husband's mustache brought back memories.

Years ago, I had the same problem. I waited patiently for my husband to shave off a big walrus mustache he had grown "just to see how it looked."

Finally, one day when he was asleep on the couch, I got scissors and nipped off one side of it! He awakened with a start and said, "What's coming off here?"

I sweetly said, "Your mustache, dear."

He laughed and kissed me. And he never grew another mustache again.

AN 85 YEAR-OLD WIDOW
DEAR WIDOW: You're lucky your husband was so good-natured. I'll bet some wives have ended up in the divorce court for less.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice about telling late-comers to come an hour ahead of time you really want them will not work. I know. I used to be anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour late every time, and no amount of kidding or criticism would change me.

One Christmas Eve some close friends (I'll call them the "Greens") invited me to drive with them to their parents' lovely country home. I was to be at the Greens' at 6 p.m.

"Please, this time don't be late," they pleaded. "It's a long drive, and we want to leave at 6 p.m. sharp!"

Of course I was late, but as I walked up their front stairs, I looked at my watch and saw it was only 6:15—which was "early" for me. But the house was dark and there was a note on their front door: "Sorry, Pal. We waited for you until 6:05."

I was furious. But I will say that I am grateful to the Greens for teaching me a lesson I will never forget.

That was the last time I was ever late.

ON TIME

CONFIDENTIAL TO C. IN OKLAHOMA CITY: Forget him, dear. He is not mature. A mature person is willing to accept the consequences for his actions. A "man" who sneaks around to see a girl behind her parents' back is immature.

Post-Meeting Fisticuffs Part Of Small-Town Charm

GENOA, Nev. (AP) — Citizens of the oldest and one of the smallest Nevada towns are fighting a legislative move to curb their free-wheeling form of "home rule."

Even if town meetings spark fist fights and elections happen irregularly, residents are part of an enthusiastic form of "democracy at the grass roots," said one spokesman.

"Everyone has a chance to say his own thing, as vigorously as he chooses," says Lou Schaffer. He and others active in Genoa affairs feel that residents' enthusiasm will suffer under a bill to standardize government in all 39 of Nevada's unincorporated towns.

Lena Falcke, 92, Rocky's grandmother and lifelong resident of the 124-year-old town, says early settlers "made the decisions on what was necessary and had to be done."

"They didn't need a computer or big government to tell them what was needed. Why start now?"

Legislators argue there are almost as many forms of government as there are unincorporated towns. They point to technically illegal actions and problems such as fist fights after town hall meetings break up.

Genoans are proud of their tax-free local government. Dances and benefits pay half the cost to keep up the volunteer fire department, town hall, water supply, street lights, a snow plow and roads — mostly dirt.

The rest of the money comes from property taxes assessed by Douglas County, which encompasses the town nestled on the east edge of the Sierra Nevada.

Genoans concede they're controlled by county government, but want to be able to negotiate for control of services they've handled for decades.

They want to be able to hold elections when needed instead of at the same time state general elections are held, and don't want to pay filing fees for their non-paying posts.

The bill would bar such practices.

Say Deputy Registrars Being Hurt

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The deputy motor vehicle registrar for Cuyahoga County, Robert Bennett, says many license plate sticker agents are taking a financial pasting because of the extra month stuck on the sales period this year.

Bennett said Wednesday he expects "three or four" of the agents to resign at the end of April.

The 50 cents the agents make on each sale "doesn't go far when you consider rent, utilities and the cost of help," Bennett said.

He said that with the licensing spread over two months this year instead of just one, few people are coming in early to pay their money.

There is "no reason to stretch it over two months," he added.

"People would put it off to the last minute if the offices were open all year."

Persons with last names beginning "A" through "K" must have their new stickers displayed by midnight April 30, but those in the last half of the alphabet have the entire month of May to get legal.

Typically, in previous years, the average profit for a license agent was $500, Bennett said.

"Now, one guy told me he was glad he was losing only $50 a week," he said.

Every one of the 44 places selling stickers reports light traffic, he added.

Speed Limit Cut Working Well

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The worth of "buckle up" slogans, elaborate seat belts and warning buzzers still is up for debate, but Ohio highway safety experts agree the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit has produced life-saving results.

"In my 29 years in law enforcement," said Col. Frank R. Blackstone, state highway patrol superintendent, "I've never seen anything that has so dramatically reduced deaths on our highways."

And, James W. Shocknessy, Ohio Turnpike chairman, said: "I was one of the people who thought 55 was too slow. I told people 60 would be all right. But, 55 has been enforced and 55 has produced results."

Yet, Ohio and 18 other states have not written 55 into permanent law. If they don't do so by June 30, the state faces a cutoff of federal highway funds.

That bugs some legislators.

5 Bulls Killed By Toxic Plants

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Five bulls died at the Ohio State Fairgrounds Tuesday after eating greenery from taxus yews on the grounds.

Larry Sadoff, a spokesman for the Longhorn World Championship Rodeo which brought the animals to the grounds for a rodeo, said, "We're told the plant is very toxic." Fifteen other rodeo bulls were treated for signs of the poison.

Sadoff said substitute bulls will be brought in for the rodeo.

Reds Release Names Of 3 Dead

GALLATIN, Tenn. (AP) — "It's tragic to lose your only son in a war, but when you spend more than two years worrying and praying, news that he actually is dead comes as a relief," says the father of Air Force Capt. Ronald Dwight Perry.

"Believe me, it's a relief to know the circumstances that surround it and we are grateful to Sen. Kennedy for taking his time to help us," Ronald D. Perry said Tuesday after learning his son was killed when shot down over North Vietnam in December 1972.

Radio Hanoi announced the deaths of three American pilots: Perry, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Jesse Taylor Jr. of Long Beach, Calif., and Maj. Crosley James Fitton of Universal City, Tex. In Washington, the Pentagon later said that Taylor was a Navy lieutenant commander, and that he and Fitton already had been listed as killed in action.

Perry, a B52 pilot, still was listed as missing in action.

The Vietnam News Agency said Nguyen Duy Trinh, North Vietnamese vice premier and foreign minister, had notified Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, chairman of the Senate refugee subcommittee, of their deaths. The announcement said the names were released out of humanitarian concern for the men's families.

Fitton's mother, Dorothy, reached at her home in Cape Coral, Fla., said, "Deep down in my heart, I still can't believe he's dead. I'm asking North Vietnam to release his body to be returned home to be buried, if he is my son. To be buried next to his father ..."

In San Antonio, Tex., Fitton's widow, Mrs. Ramon Horinek, said North Vietnam's announcement was partially intended to offset the outspoken anti-Communist views of her present husband, a returned prisoner of war.

Lt. Col. Horinek and his wife married at Las Vegas, Nev., last January after the Pentagon officially listed Fitton as dead. Mrs. Horinek said she knew Fitton was dead then.

Perry's father said his son married Lakkana Sagnak of Thailand just seven months before his last flight on Dec. 21, 1972, and that efforts to locate her have been unsuccessful.

"I don't have any idea where she is," he said. "She's in this country, but we haven't been able to find her and neither has the Air Force."

Perry, an employee at the E.I. Du Pont De Nemours & Co. chemical plant at Old Hickory, Tenn., said that while the finality of the message was a relief, it hurts deeply.

"If a person has never experienced this, it would be needless for me to try to explain it," he said. "He was our only son. I hope and pray there'll never be another American family that will have to go through this like we have. It's been over two years now that we've been on pins and needles."

"It's not like having someone in your family, a loved one, die and then burying them. There was always the dread that he was being tortured, that he was crippled. He was only 28 years old when he was shot down."

Find Patients Being Drugged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A study by the General Accounting Office discloses that 17 per cent of the psychiatric patients at the Brecksville Veterans Administration Hospital in Brecksville, Ohio, have been receiving excessive dosages of psychotherapeutic drugs.

The study by the GAO, investigative arm of Congress, said 95 of the Brecksville facility's 598 psychiatric patients received more than the daily maximum dosage of at least one drug used to treat mental disorders.

The study noted that prolonged or improper use of the drugs can be detrimental to the patient and urged the VA to establish a system for reviewing whether psychotherapeutic drugs are being properly used.

Reds Release Names Of 3 Dead

GALLATIN, Tenn. (AP) — "It's tragic to lose your only son in a war, but when you spend more than two years worrying and praying, news that he actually is dead comes as a relief," says the father of Air Force Capt. Ronald Dwight Perry.

"Believe me, it's a relief to know the circumstances that surround it and we are grateful to Sen. Kennedy for taking his time to help us," Ronald D. Perry said Tuesday after learning his son was killed when shot down over North Vietnam in December 1972.

Radio Hanoi announced the deaths of three American pilots: Perry, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Jesse Taylor Jr. of Long Beach, Calif., and Maj. Crosley James Fitton of Universal City, Tex. In Washington, the Pentagon later said that Taylor was a Navy lieutenant commander, and that he and Fitton already had been listed as killed in action.

Perry, a B52 pilot, still was listed as missing in action.

The Vietnam News Agency said Nguyen Duy Trinh, North Vietnamese vice premier and foreign minister, had notified Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, chairman of the Senate refugee subcommittee, of their deaths. The announcement said the names were released out of humanitarian concern for the men's families.

Fitton's mother, Dorothy, reached at her home in Cape Coral, Fla., said, "Deep down in my heart, I still can't believe he's dead. I'm asking North Vietnam to release his body to be returned home to be buried, if he is my son. To be buried next to his father ..."

In San Antonio, Tex., Fitton's widow, Mrs. Ramon Horinek, said North Vietnam's announcement was partially intended to offset the outspoken anti-Communist views of her present husband, a returned prisoner of war.

Lt. Col. Horinek and his wife married at Las Vegas, Nev., last January after the Pentagon officially listed Fitton as dead. Mrs. Horinek said she knew Fitton was dead then.

Perry's father said his son married Lakkana Sagnak of Thailand just seven months before his last flight on Dec. 21, 1972, and that efforts to locate her have been unsuccessful.

"I don't have any idea where she is," he said. "She's in this country, but we haven't been able to find her and neither has the Air Force."

Perry, an employee at the E.I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. chemical plant at Old Hickory, Tenn., said that while the finality of the message was a relief, it hurts deeply.

"If a person has never experienced this, it would be needless for me to try to explain it," he said. "He was our only son. I hope and pray there'll never be another American family that will have to go through this like we have. It's been over two years now that we've been on pins and needles.

"It's not like having someone in your family, a loved one, die and then burying them. There was always the dread that he was being tortured, that he was crippled. He was only 28 years old when he was shot down."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Vietnam war experience has convinced many U.S. military men that there is much truth to the old maxim: "Never get involved in a land war in Asia." "It showed that U.S. public opinion will not support a long and costly war in Asia because most Americans don't believe vital U.S. interests are at stake out there," said one Army general. "The North Vietnamese obviously were willing to pay the price in lives to win."

Most officers believe the Vietnam war was unwinnable as fought because of restrictions, many of them unprecedented, imposed by the White House and the Pentagon's civilian leadership. But they feel strongly, in looking back, that the war could have been won. They define winning as preserving South Vietnamese independence.

"The most important political-military lesson to come out of this war is that, if you're going to fight a war, you ought to listen to your professionals on how to fight it," an Air Force general said.

Many U.S. military professionals still insist the U.S. objective of forcing North Vietnam to accept an independent South Vietnam could have been achieved:

—If civilian leaders had allowed massive bombing of North Vietnam from the beginning instead of escalating the air war so gradually that North Vietnam had time to install anti-aircraft defenses and, more importantly, adjust to the effects of bombing.

—If North Vietnamese ports had been mined from the outset instead of waiting until the last year of the war.

—If U.S. infantry, armor and artillery had been sent into Laos and Cambodia in force in the first year of U.S. involvement to cut the Ho Chi Minh supply trail and keep it cut and to deny the North Vietnamese sanctuaries where they rested, refitted and re-equipped their troops outside the South Vietnamese battle theater.

Late in the war, U.S. ground troops entered the Cambodian sanctuaries but were pulled out two months later because of strong protests in the United States.

There is widespread opinion that future policymakers should learn from what many regard as a Johnson administration blunder in attempting to fight the Vietnam war without national mobilization, without sharply increasing taxes, and without imposing price, wage and other economic controls.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who exerted profound influence on Johnson administration policies, claimed back in the 1960s that the war was being waged without shaking up the lives of most Americans.

Military professionals say this led to an eventual souring of public attitude toward the war when the hard realities became evident. Many economists blame the guns-and-butter policies of the Johnson administration for the inflation of later years.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff urged mobilization of about 250,000 National Guardsmen and military reservists in 1965 when the big U.S. buildup in Vietnam began.

But the Johnson administration vetoed this because it feared such a mobilization would jolt the country. Instead, civilian officials chose a gradual buildup through larger draft calls — and thus planted the seeds of resistance to the war, many military men say.

The Nixon administration established a policy, still in effect, that any future mobilization short of all-out war will be handled by calling up National Guardsmen and reservists first and minimizing reliance on Selective Service.

As in all wars, the Vietnam conflict produced significant technological advances in weaponry.

The air war led to accelerated development of "smart bombs," weapons that can be guided to their targets by television devices and other means.

There was also a major advance in electronic warfare, which involves the use of sophisticated methods of blinding or confusing enemy radar.

A study conducted by the Army found that "the widespread use of the helicopter was the most significant advance of the Vietnam war."

That study, completed last year, found that the technique of lifting assaults units into combat over long distances, leapfrogging difficult terrain, represented "the most revolutionary change in warfare since the 'blitzkrieg' of World War II."

The Army is adopting many of the lessons learned in helicopter assault for possible future combat in Europe and elsewhere.

Lt. Gen. John H. Hay Jr., then commandant of the Army's Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., said in the recent study that:

"Improvements in communications paralleled or even exceeded progress made in mobility. Not since before the Civil War has a brigade commander been able to see and talk to all his

Fast Sod Growth Developed By Prof

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — A former Ohio Wesleyan University professor has developed a method cutting the growing time for grass sod from two years to less than two months.

Dr. Henry F. Decker, now president of Buckeye Bluegrass Farms in Ostrander, spent five years developing and testing his new method for growing the grass sod.

It uses industrial waste or sewer sludge as a growth base and grows a full crop in six to eight weeks, Decker said.

Decker, 45, said the first step in his system is to plant the grass seed in the waste mixture which has been spread over an impenetrable surface such as polyethylene plastic sheeting to prevent the grass roots from growing deep into the soil and increase growth potential.

Decker said that the grass dries easily and adequate irrigation is essential during the first few weeks. The process still takes less water than the traditional sod method, he noted, because of the shortened growth period.

When the sod has reached top growth, the plastic sheets are rolled up in four foot wide strips and shipped to buyers. This eliminates the process of sod cutting and the lighter weight results in a savings on shipping.

Decker said it also simpler to lay his new sod. One person can unroll the packages and guide the rows of sod into place.

The botanist said his new sod will cost "slightly less" than popular sod which now sells at a minimum retail price of $2,500 per acre. Decker has a patent pending on his new method.

Ohio State University graduate student Richard Sterrett, Delaware, has expanded and modified Decker's system to quick-grow other ground covers such as ivy, Euonymus sod or crown vetch sod, commonly used along freeways.

To grow these ground covers, Sterrett modified Decker's method by placing an erosion net between the plastic sheeting and the layer of soil.

However, Sterrett said a commercial soil like peat is better than industrial wastes in using his modified method.

Metzenbaum Eyes New Senate Race

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Former U.S. Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum D-Ohio, said the "complete victory" in his income tax dispute with the Internal Revenue Service might be a factor in whether he will again seek the Senate.

The tax claim was a factor during the campaign in which Metzenbaum lost the 1974 May primary race to U.S. Sen. John Glenn.

The IRS settled the tax deficiency dispute out of court April 14.

"This was a complete victory, resulting only in a very modest adjustment on the depreciation rate on the ethane extraction plant in Louisiana in which I had invested," Metzenbaum said.

"This will certainly be a positive factor and figure in my thinking on the 1976 race," Metzenbaum said.

U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, who is expected to run again for his Senate seat next year, recently suffered a heart attack but has returned to Washington saying he is fully recovered. He also said he gave supporters permission to begin preparing his campaign.

"Not a day goes by that I don't get letters, phone calls and telegrams urging me to make the race in 1976," Metzenbaum said.

"I have consistently said that I would make the decision at some point in the future. But no other potential candidate can enter the race on the assumption I won't be a candidate but neither does that indicate I will be a candidate."

The IRS notified Judge Irene F. Scott at a tax court hearing in Cleveland that Metzenbaum would receive a refund of about 80 per cent of the $118,102 he deposited with IRS Dec. 17, 1973. The IRS dropped its allegation that the only reason for the investment in the plant was for a tax shelter.

"One result of the settlement is that I will have to pay about $22,000 in 1969 taxes under the adjustment in depreciation," Metzenbaum said.

He announced Feb. 8, 1974 that he and his wife paid no income taxes in 1969 because of heavy interest payments and business losses that year.

Metzenbaum said the IRS would never have slapped the deficiency claim on him if he had not been on former President Nixon's "enemies list."

Law Student Studies Small Claims Court

Mark Downing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Downing, 163 W. Mound St., has recently completed an empirical study of the Toledo Small Claims Court. A third year law student, Downing and two fellow students utilized volunteer law students to study the workings of the local court.

Part I of the study focused on the users of the court. One of the major findings was the local court is not dominated by business interests, as 60 per cent of the claims were filed by individuals.

Ohio law permits but does not require users of the court to be represented by attorneys. In over 75 per cent of the 206 cases observed during a ten-week period, no attorneys were used by either side.

In these cases, the plaintiff won 95 per cent of the time. When the plaintiff used an attorney but the defendant did not, the plaintiff always won. When the defendant was the only party using a lawyer, he won 42 per cent of the time, a sharp contrast to the five per cent defendant winning rate when neither party used an attorney.

The study also revealed that business litigants were twice as likely to use an attorney as were individual users, especially when an individual sued a business.

The first part of the study also revealed several problem areas in the court process. Almost half of the plaintiffs who won at the hearings were unsuccessful in collecting their judgments. This problem has been somewhat alleviated by a recent amendment instructing the clerk of courts to assist individuals who were not represented by an attorney at the hearing in collecting their judgments.

The afternoon court hours were also found to be inconvenient for many people.

Given the original purpose of small claims courts to provide a prompt and inexpensive remedy to individuals with small claims, several recommendations to improve the court have been made, including the prohibition of attorneys from the hearings and more convenient hours to make the court more accessible for working people. These recommendations were included in a recent bill which failed to pass the Ohio Legislature.

Part II of the study analyzed the community's awareness of the court and its functions. A telephone survey of 400 Toledo residents revealed that knowledge of the court was minimal, especially with low-income people who were found to have the highest need for the court's services.

In light of these findings, an educational and advertising program has been recommended.

Complete results of the study will be published in the Spring and Fall issues of the University of Toledo Law Review.

Quints Doing Well At Cincy Hospital

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Mark and Pamela Levy now face the job of finding names for their three girls and two boys. The new-born quintuplets are reported doing fine at Cincinnati General Hospital.

"We went through a whole list of names," said the Brooklyn, N.Y. native employed here by Procter & Gamble Co., "but we haven't decided on them all."

Levy, 27, works in the toiletries advertising section at P&G. His wife, 28, was a junior high school counselor in the Wyoming, Ohio school district. "The only thing that concerns me now is that I want my family to be able to rest," said Levy who has not allowed pictures of his wife or the quint.

He said he expects things at home to be "tight" the first year. The couple, who had expected triplets, lives in a three bedroom condominium in Fairfield, Ohio, 20 miles north of here. The children, born April 22, are their first.

"Three of them have dark hair and two of them have red hair and they're all cute as can be," gushed an attending nurse.

"They are active, vigorous and breathing well," said Dr. Irwin Light. Dr. Allen Shade, a researcher in fertility drugs as well as head of the maternity unit at the hospital, called it "the wildest two minutes of my life," referring the Caesarian section births. He added that odds against having quintuplets are 85-million to one.

The 5-foot-3 mother weighed 106 pounds at the beginning of her pregnancy. The five babies weighed a total of 19 pounds 14 ounces when born.

Say Fatal Fire Apparently Arson

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — Authorities indicated Wednesday that a fire that killed five members of one family April 13 was apparently arson. In a joint statement, the Logan County prosecutor and the state fire marshal's office said evidence gathered failed to indicate the blaze started from natural causes.

The fire killed Mrs. Ada Garland, 48, and four of her children, ages 8-14. Her husband and a daughter escaped injury while two other children were not at home when the fire broke out Sunday.

The investigators are continuing their probe.

Metzenbaum Eyes New Senate Race

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Former U.S. Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum D-Ohio, said the "complete victory" in his income tax dispute with the Internal Revenue Service might be a factor in whether he will again seek the Senate.

The tax claim was a factor during the campaign in which Metzenbaum lost the 1974 May primary race to U.S. Sen. John Glenn.

The IRS settled the tax deficiency dispute out of court April 14.

"This was a complete victory, resulting only in a very modest adjustment on the depreciation rate on the ethane extraction plant in Louisiana in which I had invested," Metzenbaum said.

"This will certainly be a positive factor and figure in my thinking on the 1976 race," Metzenbaum said.

U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, who is expected to run again for his Senate seat next year, recently suffered a heart attack but has returned to Washington saying he is fully recovered. He also said he gave supporters permission to begin preparing his campaign.

"Not a day goes by that I don't get letters, phone calls and telegrams urging me to make the race in 1976," Metzenbaum said.

"I have consistently said that I would make the decision at some point in the future. But no other potential candidate can enter the race on the assumption I won't be a candidate but neither does that indicate I will be a candidate."

The IRS notified Judge Irene F. Scott at a tax court hearing in Cleveland that Metzenbaum would receive a refund of about 80 per cent of the $118,102 he deposited with IRS Dec. 17, 1973. The IRS dropped its allegation that the only reason for the investment in the plant was for a tax shelter.

"One result of the settlement is that I will have to pay about $22,000 in 1969 taxes under the adjustment in depreciation," Metzenbaum said.

He announced Feb. 8, 1974 that he and his wife paid no income taxes in 1969 because of heavy interest payments and business losses that year.

Metzenbaum said the IRS would never have slapped the deficiency claim on him if he had not been on former President Nixon's "enemies list."

8 Arraigned, 8 Sentenced In Common Pleas Court

Eight people were sentenced and eight others entered pleas Wednesday morning in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. The arraignments were held for those persons indicted by the April Grand Jury.

James Rodney Billups, Columbus, appeared after he had pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and grand theft. Judge William Ammer sentenced him to two consecutive terms at the Mansfield Reformatory for Men. Each of the two 1-5 year terms was suspended and Billups was placed on probation for three years.

Two men reporting addresses of 121½ S. Scioto St. were sentenced on charges of robbery. Charles McClarren also had a charge against him of breaking and entering Vic's Pizza. He was sentenced to two concurrent terms at the Ohio Penitentiary, 1-5 years on the breaking and entering charge and 2-15 years on the robbery charge.

The second man, Joseph Charles Rhodes, was sentenced to a term of 2-15 years at the Mansfield Reformatory for Men for the robbery conviction.

A term of 2-5 years at the Mansfield Reformatory was suspended in the case involving Kenneth Layton. Layton pleaded guilty to grand theft and the court placed him on probation for five years after suspending the original sentence.

The sentence of Kenneth Priest, guilty of breaking and entering, was also suspended. Judge Ammer suspended the 1-5 year term at the Mansfield Reformatory and placed Priest on probation for three years.

Two charges, uttering and publishing a bad check and failure to appear for trial, were heard against James Carroll. The court sentenced him to be committed to the Ohio Penitentiary to serve two concurrent terms of 1-5 years each.

Allen Hatcher and James Edward Smith, involved in a theft and breaking and entering at the Reynolds Metals Plant were also sentenced during the morning session of court.

Hatcher had previously pleaded guilty to the two charges and the court had ordered a pre-sentence report to be prepared on him. Upon reviewing the report, Judge Ammer noticed that Hatcher had been AWOL while he was in the service and had received an undesirable discharge.

He then proceeded to sentence the man to two concurrent terms at the Ohio Penitentiary. The court then suspended the two 2-5 year terms and placed Hatcher on probation for three years. Judge Ammer stipulated that he pay the restitution and court costs within 90 days and ordered him not to associate with Gary Congrove and James Smith. These two items were included in the list of several other items on the probation order.

Smith, of Waverly, had also previously entered guilty pleas and a pre-sentence report had been ordered on him. The court found that he was presently serving a six-month sentence in the Pike County Jail for possession of marijuana.

The court also suspended Smith's sentence of two concurrent terms of 1-5 years each at the Mansfield Reformatory and placed him on probation for three years.

George Worthington, indicted by the

Music Soothes State Senators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Arts Council may have chalked up a legislative first Wednesday night as it serenaded the Senate Finance Committee with chamber music in an effort to get the state to loosen its purse strings a bit.

A string quartet, consisting of two violins, a viola and a cello, played for the committee to try to get it to boost its spending authority in two-year budget proposals now being considered in both chambers of the legislature.

James Edgy, the council's director, said it hopes to get the committee to increase its allocation — $1 million in Gov. James A. Rhodes' budget and $2.1 million in that proposed by House Democrats.

"We hope to get between $3 million and $4 million," Edgy said.

April Grand Jury, appeared and pleaded guilty to three counts of forgery. The court proceeded to sentence him on the three counts. When Judge Ammer asked him why he had not mentioned these three checks when he had appeared nearly a year ago on similar charges, Worthington replied that he had thought he may get away with these three bad checks.

SCOPS To Meet In Piketon

The April meeting of the South Central Ohio Preservation Society will be held in Piketon Sunday in the recently restored United Methodist Church at 2 p.m., immediately following the Dogwood Festival Parade.

Piketon, in the very center of the SCOPS area, is listed on the National Register and is presently being restored. A pre civil war village, it has an atmosphere similar to that of a century ago.

Following the meeting, members and their guests are welcome to the roundup at the Vanmeter Farm. Senator William Harsha has just announced that the Vanmeter House has been accepted on the National Register. It is located a short distance south of Piketon at the intersection of Routes 23 and 124.

Judge Ammer sentenced him to a term of 1-5 years on each count and ordered the sentences to run concurrently. The court also stipulated that these sentences run concurrently from this date with the term he is presently serving in the Ohio Penitentiary. That term also originated in this county.

Not guilty pleas were entered by Robert Sering, Crawfordville, Ind., on charges of kidnapping Sue Dale, grand theft and aggravated burglary.

Alex Hopson, Columbus, pleaded not guilty to burglary and theft at Bob's Harley Davidson Motor Sales. He is accused of stealing motorcycles totaling $3,750. The offense occurred some time ago.

A charge of carrying a concealed weapon was denied in court Wednesday morning by Wade Rando Peirce, Columbus.

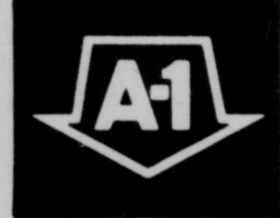

John Van Hoose appeared and asked the court to continue his case until April 30. He is charged with two counts of passing bad checks.

Not guilty pleas were also entered by James Edward Skinner, Andersonville, S. C., for possession of criminal tools and by Ronald Lyons, Route 1, Lockbourne, for escape.

Final not guilty pleas were entered during the day by Donald Dixon charged with aggravated burglary and grand theft.

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Have you ever decided that tonight the kids should listen to a story instead of watching so much television — and then discovered you had nothing to read to them!

Here are some suggestions for such occasions; but with this warning: you may not be able to stop after just one chapter.

The classic "Rabbit Hill" tells how animals cope with nature in both her good and bad moods. Cats with their hunting skills were greatly feared by George and the other animals who lived on the hill. But it was man and his machines who represented the greatest danger to the little creatures. All ages.

If you read "Bambi" in its original form, you have read a true masterpiece. Sensitively, the author has shown the maturing of a young deer with all the pain and joy of an animal's first few years. All ages.

Jenny Linsky is a graceful, shy little cat who is much admired by the other cats in Greenwich Village. In "Jenny and the Cat Club" the cats live through flights of danger as well as humorous escapades, but they join together for dancing in the evening. This is delightful for any age child.

For very brief adventure stories, try one of C. W. Anderson's many Billy and Blaze stories. Blaze, a noble and intelligent horse joins with young Billy in "Blaze and the Mountain Lion" and "Blaze and the Forest Fire."

Adventure, humor and a dash of the unknown is a successful mixture for Betty MacDonald's Mrs. Piggle-

Wiggle books. Like Mary Poppins, Mrs. Piggle-Wiggle has a winning way with little ones. Her famous cures described in Mrs. Piggle-Wiggle's Magic™ include prescriptions for "Tattle-tail-itis" and "Never — Want to Go-to-Schoolers."

"Charlie and the Great Glass Elevator" is a sequel to "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory" and is the further adventures of Charlie Bucket and Willie Wonka. Your audience will listen breathlessly as you relate the crazy happenings inside the glass elevator as it orbits the earth with Charlie Bucket and his family inside.

"The Arabian Nights contains one exciting story of Aladdin as well as brief versions of "Ali-Baba and his Forty Thieves." No need to remind you how exciting these short stories are!

Here's some good news about another classic. Clifton Fadiman has retold the legend of Arthur for younger readers in "The Story of Young King Arthur." With its emphasis on the struggle between good and evil knights, this will be enjoyed by children in first through third grade.

Enjoy some bedtime reading with your child; it could be habit forming.

8 Arraigned, 8 Sentenced In Common Pleas Court

Eight people were sentenced and eight others entered pleas Wednesday morning in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. The arraignments were held for those persons indicted by the April Grand Jury.

James Rodney Billups, Columbus, appeared after he had pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and grand theft. Judge William Ammer sentenced him to two consecutive terms at the Mansfield Reformatory for Men. Each of the two 1-5 year terms was suspended and Billups was placed on probation for three years.

Two men reporting addresses of 121½ S. Scioto St. were sentenced on charges of robbery. Charles McClarren also had a charge against him of breaking and entering Vic's Pizza. He was sentenced to two concurrent terms at the Ohio Penitentiary, 1-5 years on the breaking and entering charge and 2-15 years on the robbery charge.

The second man, Joseph Charles Rhodes, was sentenced to a term of 2-15 years at the Mansfield Reformatory for Men for the robbery conviction.

A term of 2-5 years at the Mansfield Reformatory was suspended in the case involving Kenneth Layton. Layton pleaded guilty to grand theft and the court placed him on probation for five years after suspending the original sentence.

The sentence of Kenneth Priest, guilty of breaking and entering, was also suspended. Judge Ammer suspended the 1-5 year term at the Mansfield Reformatory and placed Priest on probation for three years.

Two charges, uttering and publishing a bad check and failure to appear for trial, were heard against James Carroll. The court sentenced him to be committed to the Ohio Penitentiary to serve two concurrent terms of 1-5 years each.

Allen Hatcher and James Edward Smith, involved in a theft and breaking and entering at the Reynolds Metals Plant were also sentenced during the morning session of court.

Hatcher had previously pleaded guilty to the two charges and the court had ordered a pre-sentence report to be prepared on him. Upon reviewing the report, Judge Ammer noticed that Hatcher had been AWOL while he was in the service and had received an undesirable discharge.

He then proceeded to sentence the man to two concurrent terms at the Ohio Penitentiary. The court then suspended the two 2-5 year terms and placed Hatcher on probation for three years. Judge Ammer stipulated that he pay the restitution and court costs within 90 days and ordered him not to associate with Gary Congrove and James Smith. These two items were included in the list of several other items on the probation order.

Smith, of Waverly, had also previously entered guilty pleas and a pre-sentence report had been ordered on him. The court found that he was presently serving a six-month sentence in the Pike County Jail for possession of marijuana.

The court also suspended Smith's sentence of two concurrent terms of 1-5 years each at the Mansfield Reformatory and placed him on probation for three years.

George Worthington, indicted by the

Music Soothes State Senators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Arts Council may have chalked up a legislative first Wednesday night as it serenaded the Senate Finance Committee with chamber music in an effort to get the state to loosen its purse strings a bit.

A string quartet, consisting of two violins, a viola and a cello, played for the committee to try to get it to boost its spending authority in two-year budget proposals now being considered in both chambers of the legislature.

James Edgy, the council's director, said it hopes to get the committee to increase its allocation — $1 million in Gov. James A. Rhodes' budget and $2.1 million in that proposed by House Democrats.

"We hope to get between $3 million and $4 million," Edgy said.

April Grand Jury, appeared and pleaded guilty to three counts of forgery. The court proceeded to sentence him on the three counts. When Judge Ammer asked him why he had not mentioned these three checks when he had appeared nearly a year ago on similar charges, Worthington replied that he had thought he may get away with these three bad checks.

SCOPS To Meet In Piketon

The April meeting of the South Central Ohio Preservation Society will be held in Piketon Sunday in the recently restored United Methodist Church at 2 p.m., immediately following the Dogwood Festival Parade.

Piketon, in the very center of the SCOPS area, is listed on the National Register and is presently being restored. A pre civil war village, it has an atmosphere similar to that of a century ago.

Following the meeting, members and their guests are welcome to the roundup at the Vanmeter Farm. Senator William Harsha has just announced that the Vanmeter House has been accepted on the National Register. It is located a short distance south of Piketon at the intersection of Routes 23 and 124.

Judge Ammer sentenced him to a term of 1-5 years on each count and ordered the sentences to run concurrently. The court also stipulated that these sentences run concurrently from this date with the term he is presently serving in the Ohio Penitentiary. That term also originated in this county.

Not guilty pleas were entered by Robert Sering, Crawfordville, Ind., on charges of kidnapping Sue Dale, grand theft and aggravated burglary.

Alex Hopson, Columbus, pleaded not guilty to burglary and theft at Bob's Harley Davidson Motor Sales. He is accused of stealing motorcycles totaling $3,750. The offense occurred some time ago.

A charge of carrying a concealed weapon was denied in court Wednesday morning by Wade Rando Peirce, Columbus.

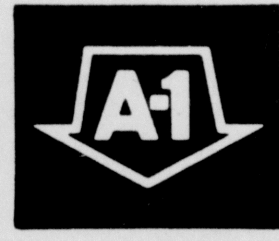

John Van Hoose appeared and asked the court to continue his case until April 30. He is charged with two counts of passing bad checks.

Not guilty pleas were also entered by James Edward Skinner, Andersonville, S. C., for possession of criminal tools and by Ronald Lyons, Route 1, Lockbourne, for escape.

Final not guilty pleas was entered during the day by Donald Dixon charged with aggravated burglary and grand theft.

Atlanta Defeats Cincinnati Reds

ATLANTA (AP) — Pitcher Ron Reed and catcher Vic Correll weren't on the same wave length Wednesday night after the Atlanta Braves trimmed the Cincinnati Reds 5-4 in 11 innings.

"He could have pitched 15 or 20 innings if necessary," said Correll, who had Reed hitting the corners to such perfection that the tall Braves' right-hander retired the last 19 Reds he faced.

"Correll doesn't know," said Reed. "The ball wasn't getting to him. They were hitting that first pitch so much. I believe I could have gone another inning or two, but that's all."

Larvell "Sugar Bear" Blanks made it a moot point anyway. The little 5-foot-7 shortstop drilled a double off Don Gullett to left-center in the 11th, chasing Mike Lum home from first with the winning run.

Before Reed, 1-3, and Gullett, 2-1, settled into their brilliant pitching duel, the game had been a power battle.

Correll belted a two-run homer in the second inning and Darrell Evans smashed his fifth of the year in the third, also a two-run shot.

But Johnny Bench got the Reds into a 4-4 draw with a three-run blast over the center field fence, his third of the season.

Blanks said he had expected to be lifted for Clarence Gaston as a pinch-hitter but when Manager Clyde King motioned him back to the plate, "I knew I better do something. I just got on top of a fast ball. He threw it in the wrong place."

Reed said he "definitely was depressed" after Bench hit the homer off "a pitcher's pitch. The ball was down on the outside part of the plate. He just went down and got it."

The game-tying blast brought a few boos from the crowd.

"Sure, I'm human," Reed said. "I heard the cat calls and boos. But (pitching coach) Herm Starette told me not to act like I was behind, to start fresh the next inning. That really built my confidence."

Reed said he couldn't explain his string of 19 straight outs against a good-hitting club like the Reds.

"Maybe they were a little anxious," he said. "This game is so screwed up if you try to figure it out you'll be a basket case."

Bench was asked what happened to Reed after the fifth inning.

"He got tough," Bench said. "Nineteen straight. It seemed like it, too."

The game dropped Cincinnati's record below .500. The Reds have now won eight and lost nine.

The two teams meet again tonight at Atlanta.

Islanders Need Win

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — If Lady Luck takes sides in the National Hockey League, there's a chance ... just a chance, mind you ... that she's a New York Islander fan.

And if she doesn't blanch when they bring home their NHL quarter-final series against Pittsburgh, the Islanders will have an opportunity to make history.

After falling behind three games to none in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup series, the Islanders came back with a 3-1 victory here Sunday and a 4-2 victory Tuesday at Pittsburgh, where the Islanders had never won in their three-year NHL history.

If they tie it up 3-3 here, they go back to Pittsburgh for the deciding game Saturday with a chance to become the first team to win the last four games of a Stanley Cup series since Toronto did it in 1942 against Detroit.

"Hey, luck has to enter into it no matter how good you are or you don't survive in this league," says Glenn Resch, who took over the Islanders' netminding duties from Bill Smith in game No. 4.

Colonels Top Spirits

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Hubie Brown sounded like a coach whose team was trailing instead of leading in the American Basketball Association Eastern Division final playoffs.

After his Kentucky Colonels put away the Spirits of St. Louis 108-103 Wednesday night, Brown pointed out, "We were getting beaten on the second shots and the fast breaks."

"And if it hadn't been for Ted McClain," he continued, "the outcome might have been different. He made a lot of things happen."

McClain, playing with four stitches in his left arm, connected for 24 points in holding off the Spirits, who now trail 2-0 in the best-of-seven series. Action resumes Friday in St. Louis.

In the Western Conference final playoffs, Denver is at Indiana tonight for Game 3 with the best-of-seven series tied 1-1.

Westfall Girls Place 2nd In Track Meet

Westfall's girls track team finished second in a tri meet with Zane Trace and Southeastern. Zane Trace won with 62 points, Westfall had 43 and Southeastern tallied 37.

First places for Westfall went to: Jo Carol Hawkes, shot, 29 feet 5 inches; Barb Mace, 100-yard dash, 12.45, and 220-yard dash, 28.5, a school record; Elaine Steinhauer, 80-yard LH, 13.6; Karen Marshall, high jump, 5 feet.

Second places went to: Elaine Steinhauer, long jump; Susan Wright, 440; Mile Relay (Sue Monett, Chris See, Nancy Schein, Susan Wright); 440 Relay (Tracey Galloway, Elaine Steinhauer, Karen Marshall, Barb Mace).

Finishing third were: Susan Wright, long jump; Dawn Corbin, mile run; 880 Relay (Valerie Corbin, Tish Everman, Tracey Galloway, Karen Marshall); 880 Medley (Karen Marshall, Tracey Galloway, Elaine Steinhauer, Lisa Hughes).

Westfall will compete in a tri meet with Huntington at Zane Trace 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Tribe Tops Tigers For 4-3 Victory

DETROIT (AP) — There's no truth to the rumor that the sun went to Florida for spring training and forgot to return.

It just seems that way for Jim Perry and Joe Coleman.

Neither has had a decent day to pitch since the baseball season opened.

Perry was finally rewarded for his rain-soaked efforts Wednesday, while Coleman got doused for the third straight time as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Detroit Tigers 4-3.

George Hendrick and Jack Brohamer each drove in two runs for the Indians, who survived a Tiger rally in the sixth when Gary Sutherland and Bill Freehan clouted home runs.

The game was delayed an hour and five minutes after the sixth because of continuous rain which inundated the field.

Fortunately, the Tigers don't have to play on it today. They're off until Friday night when they begin a three-game home series against Boston.

Cleveland is off also. The Indians open a three-game set Friday night in Baltimore.

Coleman — who was supposed to be Detroit's ace this season — has given up 15 earned runs in 14 1-3 innings in his three starts.

Sparky Anderson is in his sixth year as manager of the Cincinnati Reds. His teams played in the 1970 and 1972 World Series.

Manager Yogi Berra of the New York Mets played 188 minor league games before joining the New York Yankees in 1946.

Astros, Giants Split Twinbill

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

It was nice to see the kid get his first major league baseball victory. It was also nice to see the kid get his first major league shutout.

Maybe it was even nicer that they weren't the same kid. That way, everybody had something to smile about.

Doug Konieczny, after suffering through five losses in the majors, three last year and two this time around, finally got around to the win column Wednesday night when Houston beat San Francisco 3-2 in the first game of a twilight doubleheader. Roger Metzger and Ken Boswell gave him the runs he needed and Ken Forsch gave him some much-welcomed relief.

In the nightcap, it was Giants' rookie Pete Falcone who wore the grin after he wore down the Astros 3-0 with a fivehitter for his inaugural shutout in the majors.

In the rest of the National League it was Chicago 9, Philadelphia 3; New York 7, St. Louis 1; Montreal 5, Pittsburgh 0; San Diego 7, Los Angeles 1, and Atlanta 5, Cincinnati 4 in 11 innings.

"I felt good," Konieczny understated. "I don't know if I was throwing as hard as in past games, but I had good command. I was throwing the ball where I wanted it."

Metzger got behind him with two RBI on a squeeze bunt and a sacrifice fly while Boswell tripled in the other run.

Chris Speier's double and Bruce Miller's single gave Falcone the only run he needed — but the Giants got two more anyway on Falcone's single, a sacrifice, a stolen base and catcher Skip Jutze's throwing error and on Gary Thomasson's homer.

"I never thought I'd pitch my first shutout this year," Falcone said. "It helped my confidence. Maybe I can pitch another one."

Cubs 9, Phillies 3 Bill Madlock doubled and singled to drive in four runs in Chicago's pounding of the Phillies.

The Cubs' 13-hit attack also included

homers by George Mitterwald and Rick Monday.

Mets 7, Cards 1

"Things are going so good I hate to have a day off. When you're going this good, you want to play." Manager Yogi Berra said after his Mets parlayed Tom Seaver's four-hitter and Rusty Staub's grand-slam homer off Bob Gibson into their fourth straight victory.

Expos 5, Pirates 0

"There are two ways to do it — give them nothing or get something," Montreal Manager Gene Mauch said after his Expos beat Pittsburgh. "If you don't give them anything, you don't need much."

Woodie Fryman has what it took to shut out his former Pirates teammates for the second time this season. He scattered seven hits, struck out nine batters and contributed a runcoring single in a four-run second inning.

Padres 7, Dodgers 1

Mike Ivie, Randy Hundley and Bobby Tolan drove in two runs apiece for San Diego to end a personal 15-game winning streak by the Dodgers' Don Sutton and enable Joe McIntosh to record his first major-league complete game with a five-hitter.

The Padres, winning for the seventh time in the last nine games, raked Sutton for two runs in the second inning and one in the fourth, then chased him in the fifth when Ivie singled for two runs and Hundley doubled for two more.

Braves 5, Reds 4

Mike Lum drew a one-out walk from Don Gullett in the 11th inning and, with two away, Larvell Blanks doubled him home to push the Braves past Cincinnati.

"I was expecting Clarence Gaston to hit for me," Blanks admitted. "I took a couple of steps back toward the dugout but they just motioned for me to get up there and hit. I figured I better go ahead and do something."

Junior Tigers Lose Track Meet

Circleville's seventh and eighth grade track team dropped a close decision to Lancaster Sherman, 59-50, in a dual meet on the local oval.

Atlanta Defeats Cincinnati Reds

ATLANTA (AP) — Pitcher Ron Reed and catcher Vic Correll weren't on the same wave length Wednesday night after the Atlanta Braves trimmed the Cincinnati Reds 5-4 in 11 innings.

"He could have pitched 15 or 20 innings if necessary," said Correll, who had Reed hitting the corners to such perfection that the tall Braves' right-hander retired the last 19 Reds he faced.

"Correll doesn't know," said Reed. "The ball wasn't getting to him. They were hitting that first pitch so much. I believe I could have gone another inning or two, but that's all."

Larvell "Sugar Bear" Blanks made it a moot point anyway. The little 5-foot-7 shortstop drilled a double off Don Gullett to left-center in the 11th, chasing Mike Lum home from first with the winning run.

Before Reed, 1-3, and Gullett, 2-1, settled into their brilliant pitching duel, the game had been a power battle.

Correll belted a two-run homer in the second inning and Darrell Evans smashed his fifth of the year in the third, also a two-run shot.

But Johnny Bench got the Reds into a 4-4 draw with a three-run blast over the center field fence, his third of the season.

Blanks said he had expected to be lifted for Clarence Gaston as a pinch-hitter but when Manager Clyde King motioned him back to the plate, "I knew I better do something. I just got on top of a fast ball. He threw it in the wrong place."

Reed said he "definitely was depressed" after Bench hit the homer off "a pitcher's pitch. The ball was down on the outside part of the plate. He just went down and got it."

The game-tying blast brought a few boos from the crowd.

"Sure, I'm human," Reed said. "I heard the cat calls and boos. But (pitching coach) Herm Starette told me not to act like I was behind, to start fresh the next inning. That really built my confidence."

Reed said he couldn't explain his string of 19 straight outs against a good-hitting club like the Reds.

"Maybe they were a little anxious," he said. "This game is so screwed up if you try to figure it out you'll be a basket case."

Bench was asked what happened to Reed after the fifth inning.

"He got tough," Bench said. "Nineteen straight. It seemed like it, too."

The game dropped Cincinnati's record below .500. The Reds have now won eight and lost nine.

The two teams meet again tonight at Atlanta.

Islanders Need Win

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — If Lady Luck takes sides in the National Hockey League, there's a chance ... just a chance, mind you ... that she's a New York Islander fan.

And if she doesn't blanch when they bring home their NHL quarter-final series against Pittsburgh, the Islanders will have an opportunity to make history.

After falling behind three games to none in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup series, the Islanders came back with a 3-1 victory here Sunday and a 4-2 victory Tuesday at Pittsburgh, where the Islanders had never won in their three-year NHL history.

If they tie it up 3-3 here, they go back to Pittsburgh for the deciding game Saturday with a chance to become the first team to win the last four games of a Stanley Cup series since Toronto did it in 1942 against Detroit.

"Hey, luck has to enter into it no matter how good you are or you don't survive in this league," says Glenn Resch, who took over the Islanders' netminding duties from Bill Smith in game No. 4.

Colonels Top Spirits

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Hubie Brown sounded like a coach whose team was trailing instead of leading in the American Basketball Association Eastern Division final playoffs.

After his Kentucky Colonels put away the Spirits of St. Louis 108-103 Wednesday night, Brown pointed out, "We were getting beaten on the second shots and the fast breaks."

"And if it hadn't been for Ted McClain," he continued, "the outcome might have been different. He made a lot of things happen."

McClain, playing with four stitches in his left arm, connected for 24 points in holding off the Spirits, who now trail 2-0 in the best-of-seven series. Action resumes Friday in St. Louis.

In the Western Conference final playoffs, Denver is at Indiana tonight for Game 3 with the best-of-seven series tied 1-1.

Westfall Girls Place 2nd In Track Meet

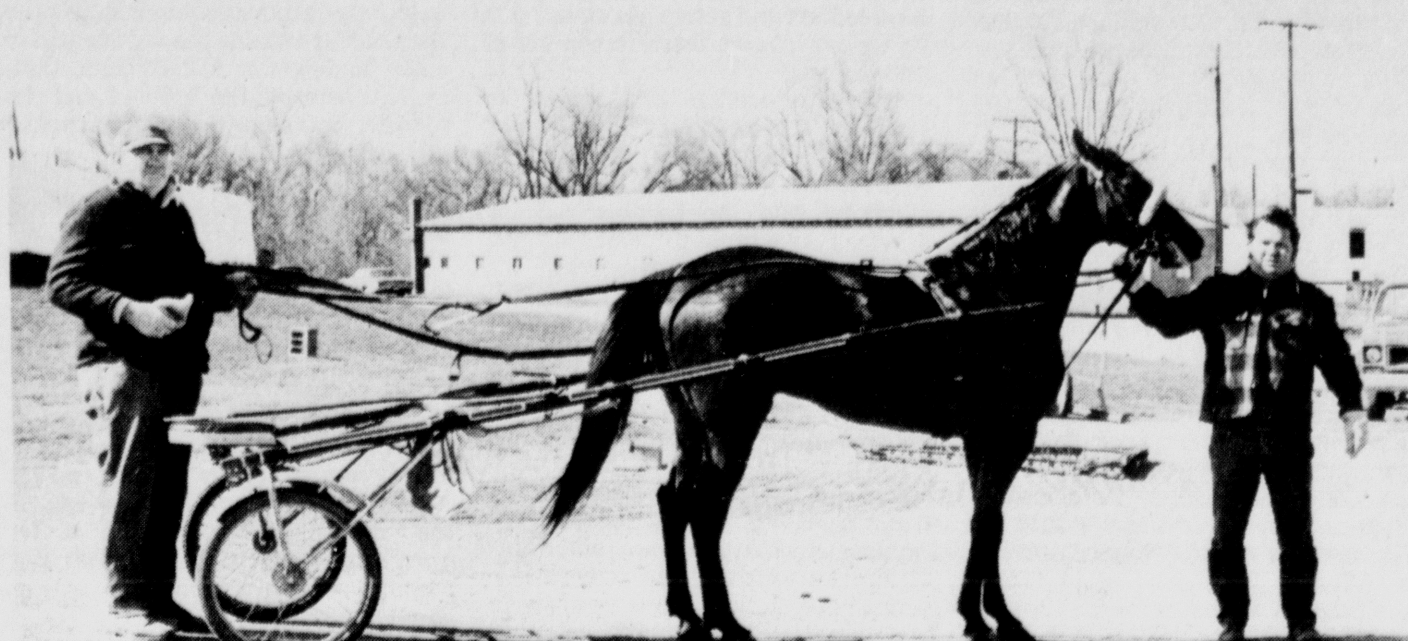

Westfall's girls track team finished second in a tri meet with Zane Trace and Southeastern. Zane Trace won with 62 points, Westfall had 43 and Southeastern tallied 37.

First places for Westfall went to: Jo Carol Hawkes, shot, 29 feet 5 inches; Barb Mace, 100-yard dash, 12.45, and 220-yard dash, 28.5, a school record; Elaine Steinhauer, 80-yard LH, 13.6; Karen Marshall, high jump, 5 feet.

Second places went to: Elaine Steinhauer, long jump; Susan Wright, 440; Mile Relay (Sue Monett, Chris See, Nancy Schein, Susan Wright); 440 Relay (Tracey Galloway, Elaine Steinhauer, Karen Marshall, Barb Mace).

Finishing third were: Susan Wright, long jump; Dawn Corbin, mile run; 880 Relay (Valerie Corbin, Tish Everman, Tracey Galloway, Karen Marshall); 880 Medley (Karen Marshall, Tracey Galloway, Elaine Steinhauer, Lisa Hughes).

Westfall will compete in a tri meet with Huntington at Zane Trace 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Astros, Giants Split Twinbill

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It was nice to see the kid get his first major league baseball victory. It was also nice to see the kid get his first major league shutout.

Maybe it was even nicer that they weren't the same kid. That way, everybody had something to smile about.

Doug Konieczny, after suffering through five losses in the majors, three last year and two this time around, finally got around to the win column Wednesday night when Houston beat San Francisco 3-2 in the first game of a twinbill doubleheader. Roger Metzger and Ken Boswell gave him the runs he needed and Ken Forsch gave him some much-welcomed relief.

In the nightcap, it was Giants' rookie Pete Falcone who wore the grin after he wore down the Astros 3-0 with a fivehitter for his inaugural shutout in the majors.

In the rest of the National League it was Chicago 9, Philadelphia 3; New York 7, St. Louis 1; Montreal 5, Pittsburgh 0; San Diego 7, Los Angeles 1, and Atlanta 5, Cincinnati 4 in 11 innings.

"I felt good," Konieczny understated. "I don't know if I was throwing as hard as in past games, but I had good command. I was throwing the ball where I wanted it."

Metzger got behind him with two RBI on a squeeze bunt and a sacrifice fly while Boswell tripled in the other run.

Chris Speier's double and Bruce Miller's single gave Falcone the only run he needed — but the Giants got two more anyway on Falcone's single, a sacrifice, a stolen base and catcher Skip Jutze's throwing error and on Gary Thomasson's homer.

"I never thought I'd pitch my first shutout this year," Falcone said. "It helped my confidence. Maybe I can pitch another one."

Cubs 9, Phillies 3
Bill Madlock doubled and singled to drive in four runs in Chicago's pounding of the Phillies.

The Cubs' 13-hit attack also included

homers by George Mitterwald and Rick Monday.

Mets 7, Cards 1

"Things are going so good I hate to have a day off. When you're going this good, you want to play," Manager Yogi Berra said after his Mets parlayed Tom Seaver's four-hitter and Rusty Staub's grand-slam homer off Bob Gibson into their fourth straight victory.

Expos 5, Pirates 0

"There are two ways to do it — give them nothing or get something," Montreal Manager Gene Mauch said after his Expos beat Pittsburgh. "If you don't give them anything, you don't need much."

Woody Fryman has what it took to shut out his former Pirates teammates for the second time this season. He scattered seven hits, struck out nine batters and contributed a runscore single in a four-run second inning.

Padres 7, Dodgers 1

Mike Ivie, Randy Hundley and Bobby Tolan drove in two runs apiece for San Diego to end a personal 15-game winning streak by the Dodgers' Don Sutton and enable Joe McIntosh to record his first major-league complete game with a five-hitter.

The Padres, winning for the seventh time in the last nine games, raked Sutton for two runs in the second inning and one in the fourth, then chased him in the fifth when Ivie singled for two runs and Hundley doubled for two more.

Braves 5, Reds 4

Mike Lum drew a one-out walk from Don Gullett in the 11th inning and, with two away, Larvell Blanks doubled him home to push the Braves past Cincinnati.

"I was expecting Clarence Gaston to hit for me," Blanks admitted. "I took a couple of steps back toward the dugout but they just motioned for me to get up there and hit. I figured I better go ahead and do something."

Tribe Tops Tigers For 4-3 Victory

DETROIT (AP) — There's no truth to the rumor that the sun went to Florida for spring training and forgot to return.

It just seems that way for Jim Perry and Joe Coleman.

Neither has had a decent day to pitch since the baseball season opened.

Perry was finally rewarded for his rain-soaked efforts Wednesday, while Coleman got doused for the third straight time as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Detroit Tigers 4-3.

George Hendrick and Jack Brohamer each drove in two runs for the Indians, who survived a Tiger rally in the sixth when Gary Sutherland and Bill Freehan clouted home runs.

The game was delayed an hour and five minutes after the sixth because of continuous rain which inundated the field.

Fortunately, the Tigers don't have to play on it today. They're off until Friday night when they begin a three-game home series against Boston.

Cleveland is off also. The Indians open a three-game set Friday night in Baltimore.

Coleman — who was supposed to be Detroit's ace this season — has given up 15 earned runs in 14 1-3 innings in his three starts.

Sparky Anderson is in his sixth year as manager of the Cincinnati Reds. His teams played in the 1970 and 1972 World Series.

Manager Yogi Berra of the New York Mets played 188 minor league games before joining the New York Yankees in 1946.

the possibility of two doctors locating in this area. Dr. Lutz said Dr. Exconde was interested and Rideout confirmed that he had submitted an application. An osteopathic surgeon has also made application.

John Adkins, Ernie Lindsey, Dr. William Myers and Larry Kellerberger were present at the meeting to discuss with the board members the Emergency Medical Team.

Rideout began the discussion by saying that his concerns include the problems which may occur with the vehicle being parked at the hospital and the liability of the squads-people working in the emergency room. He said he could see a problem if the volunteers some time in the future lose their enthusiasm and also should the funding run out. He said simply by association, the public would expect the hospital to continue with the service.

He also specified that no third party payer would allow for a rate increase to provide for the operation of the emergency vehicle.

The administrator concluded his reservations by saying that personally he thought the service was a good thing and was needed by this community.

John Adkins answered both of Rideout's questions. He said presently 60 to 70 per cent of the squads nationwide were operated by volunteers and he had found these people to be steadfast and active. He stated that he did not expect them to run out of enthusiasm.

The city council has agreed to purchase a vehicle for the squad and the vehicle should be delivered in approximately two to three weeks.

Adkins said the funding for the service may ultimately come from the public after they have seen the necessity of the service. He then commented that should public support not be great enough to support a levy to continue operation of the service, it would probably terminate and commercial units would again resume the service once provided.

He said he did not anticipate the hospital having any problems concerning liability either since individuals operating an emergency service are immune from recovery in a civil suit. The group will probably seek an umbrella coverage anyway.

As far as the EMT personnel working in the emergency room, Adkins said they would take their orders from the doctor or nurse in charge who would be ultimately liable anyway.

In conclusion, Adkins said he hoped the service would serve to increase the utilization of Berger Hospital.

Dr. Myers advised the board that basically, the EMT was only seeking permission from the board to continue in the emergency room training, to use the shed for housing the vehicle and to seek funding for a communications system between the hospital and the vehicle. This system would be located at the hospital.

There are presently 41 trained technicians and by July the EMT hopes to begin another class bringing that number to 60.

The board approved the EMT's request to seek funding for the communications systems.

Board members were reminded of the meeting Monday night with the county commissioners and city council members to discuss the renewing of the revenue bonds. The place of the meeting was changed from the hospital to Pickaway Arms Restaurant.

The next regular meeting of the board is May 28.

An employees' recognition dinner is scheduled for May 14 at the Elks Home.

Congress

Congress for humanitarian aid.

The Senate's $250-million bill includes a $100 million contingency fund for humanitarian aid and evacuation, and $150 million for humanitarian projects in Cambodia as well as South Vietnam.

The House bill would authorize a far larger U.S. military evacuation operation than the Senate's. The two bills also take different basic approaches to authorizing Ford to use U.S. forces.

The Senate bill simply states that the President is authorized to use U.S. forces for evacuation of Americans and endangered South Vietnamese and their dependents under a string of restrictions:

—The Americans and South Vietnamese must be under "direct and imminent threat" of being killed and diplomatic efforts must be made first to win their evacuation without force.

—U.S. forces used to evacuate South Vietnamese would be limited to those there to evacuate Americans and their dependents; they could not go into new areas for the South Vietnamese and could not be exposed to hostilities longer in order to get the Vietnamese out.

The House bill authorized "minimum use of necessary force" and specifically sets aside five laws passed by Congress prohibiting reintroduction of U.S. forces into hostilities in Indochina.

The congressional action follows the release of a Harris poll showing that Americans by a 68-22 majority oppose sending troops to South Vietnam to assist in evacuating endangered Vietnamese.

A Harris survey of 1,528 adults between April 16-18 also showed that 47 per cent oppose spending $250 million in humanitarian aid while 43 per cent favor it. The Harris organization said 81-12 per cent are opposed to Ford's request for $722 million in military aid.

Realty Commission Said At Standstill

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Because of squabbling over makeup of the Ohio Real Estate Commission, operations of the commission have come to a virtual standstill, the Plain Dealer reported today.

The newspaper quoted John C. Johnson, the commission's acting secretary, as telling the commission in Columbus Wednesday no licenses will be issued after Monday.

The commission normally issues at least 250 licenses a week to real estate salesmen and brokers, it was reported.

Johnson said under a new law the licenses must be signed by the state superintendent of real estate and the commission president.

But no superintendent has been selected, and "no one is sure just who is serving on the commission or if the president is serving legally," the Plain Dealer said.

Johnson said that during the past two months an unprecedented backlog of pending hearings and license applications has piled up.

None of these can be acted upon until a new state superintendent is named.

Commission President Irving Franklin Jr. of Shaker Heights has been at odds with State Commerce Director J. Gordon Peltier over the makeup of the commission under a new state law.

Peltier says the commission consists of five members, the three original Democratic members and two new Republican members named by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

But Franklin contends that the commission has only three members until July under the new law. He said that according to statutes, those three should pick candidates for superintendent, with final selection to be made by Peltier.

Peltier also questions whether Franklin can serve on the commission legally because of a problem over an apparent late filing of Franklin's oath of office for the current term.

House Approves Beekeeping Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A measure to encourage honey beekeeping by protecting honey sales from an influx of imitations, made mostly from corn syrup, passed the House overwhelmingly (90-1) Wednesday.

The sponsor, Rep. Dale Locker, D-80 Anna, said "there's no way to estimate" the value of honeybees to agriculture, and that if there isn't a good market for honey, Ohioans may stop keeping bees.

Spokesmen for the state's more than 9,000 beekeepers are promoting the legislation, which specifically prohibits labeling any product as honey— all or in part—unless it is the real thing.

Young Women Urged To Avoid Breast X-Rays For Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Routine X-ray examinations for breast cancer in women under the age of 35 should be avoided because the screening procedure itself may cause tumors, a Food and Drug Administration advisory panel says.

The advisory committee also called for more studies on the safety and effectiveness of such X rays, called mammography, in women aged 35-50 years. The panel also urged physicians to determine whether female patients are pregnant before taking abdominal X rays.

The FDA's Bureau of Radiological Health has taken the recommendations under consideration. But

Dr. William S. Cole, associate director for medical affairs, said the under-35 prohibition "makes good sense."

The rush by thousands of young women for breast X rays is "a mistake, growing out of hysteria," he said in an interview.

The advisory committee's recommendations were spurred by reports that some college health clinics are advising coeds to undergo routine mammography. More and more women are seeking breast cancer examinations since the wives of President Ford and Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller underwent surgical removal of cancerous breasts.

Cole said mammography is not very effective in young women because they have firmer breast tissue which may obscure X-ray detection of tumors. No one knows the risk of low-dose radiation, he added.

In addition, said Bureau Director John C. Villforth, the two X-ray films required for each breast and use of improper equipment and techniques are resulting in radiation overexposure for many women.

The advisory panel recommended that women under 35 avoid mammography if they have no complaints, no personal or strong family history of cancer and no physical evidence of cancer such as a lump.

Cole said the effectiveness of mammography in women aged 35-50 may be answered in two or three years when the National Cancer Institute and American Cancer Society complete data from their mass screening of 270,000 women in 27 cancerdetection clinics around the country.

ARC Joins Gas Push

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Acting at the urging of Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes, the Appalachian Regional Commission has decided to launch a drive for federal funds to develop new sources of natural gas.

The commission agreed Wednesday to call a meeting of regional governors within two weeks to solicit their support of the effort.

The commission took its action after Rhodes told it the energy situation in his state is critical.

He said Ohio cannot wait around for action because "we have at hand the destruction of all industry..."

"We cannot listen to everybody who's dreaming about six years from now," he said. "We will lose our industry...We are talking now about survival."

Rhodes urged the commission to act, but did not explain what sort of action he hoped for, other than to say, "You are not going to make an impact on Washington by passing resolutions and writing letters. You have to go down there and pound the tables."

Donald Whitehead, federal co-chairman of the commission, said the commission may find its hands tied by federal regulations. He said the commission is now prohibited by Congress from spending money for the development of energy sources, but he said Congress is now reviewing that prohibition.

Ford Becomes Honorary Cajun

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — President Ford is now an honorary Cajun.

The President was honored as a "Good Cajun" Wednesday, right in front of Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards, the state's highest ranking Cajun.

"I was counting on being the first Cajun president," Edwards quipped.

The Rev. Sam Hill Ray, chaplain of the U.S. Navy League, bestowed the honor in the name of 800,000 Louisiana Cajuns, descendants of the French Acadians who moved from Canada 200 years ago.

"Cajun Jerry embodies all the bluff and hearty qualifications of his Cajun admirers," the chaplain said.

"Father Ray," Ford improvised in tourist French, "merci, garcon."

Congress for humanitarian aid.

The Senate's $250-million bill includes a $100 million contingency fund for humanitarian aid and evacuation, and $150 million for humanitarian projects in Cambodia as well as South Vietnam.

The House bill would authorize a far larger U.S. military evacuation operation than the Senate's. The two bills also take different basic approaches to authorizing Ford to use U.S. forces.

The Senate bill simply states that the President is authorized to use U.S. forces for evacuation of Americans and endangered South Vietnamese and their dependents under a string of restrictions:

—The Americans and South Vietnamese must be under "direct and imminent threat" of being killed and diplomatic efforts must be made first to win their evacuation without force.

—U.S. forces used to evacuate South Vietnamese would be limited to those there to evacuate Americans and their dependents; they could not go into new areas for the South Vietnamese and could not be exposed to hostilities longer in order to get the Vietnamese out.

The House bill authorized "minimum use of necessary force" and specifically sets aside five laws passed by Congress prohibiting reintroduction of U.S. forces into hostilities in Indochina.

The congressional action follows the release of a Harris poll showing that Americans by a 68-22 majority oppose sending troops to South Vietnam to assist in evacuating endangered Vietnamese.

A Harris survey of 1,528 adults between April 16-18 also showed that 47 per cent oppose spending $250 million in humanitarian aid while 43 per cent favor it. The Harris organization said 81-12 per cent are opposed to Ford's request for $722 million in military aid.

Realty Commission Said At Standstill

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Because of squabbling over makeup of the Ohio Real Estate Commission, operations of the commission have come to a virtual standstill, the Plain Dealer reported today.

The newspaper quoted John C. Johnson, the commission's acting secretary, as telling the commission in Columbus Wednesday no licenses will be issued after Monday.

The commission normally issues at least 250 licenses a week to real estate salesmen and brokers, it was reported.

Johnson said under a new law the licenses must be signed by the state superintendent of real estate and the commission president.

But no superintendent has been selected, and "no one is sure just who is serving on the commission or if the president is serving legally," the Plain Dealer said.

Johnson said that during the past two months an unprecedented backlog of pending hearings and license applications has piled up.

None of these can be acted upon until a new state superintendent is named.

Commission President Irving Franklin Jr. of Shaker Heights has been at odds with State Commerce Director J. Gordon Peltier over the makeup of the commission under a new state law.

Peltier says the commission consists of five members, the three original Democratic members and two new Republican members named by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

But Franklin contends that the commission has only three members until July under the new law. He said that according to statutes, those three should pick candidates for superintendent, with final selection to be made by Peltier.

Peltier also questions whether Franklin can serve on the commission legally because of a problem over an apparent late filing of Franklin's oath of office for the current term.

House Approves Beekeeping Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A measure to encourage honey beekeeping by protecting honey sales from an influx of imitations, made mostly from corn syrup, passed the House overwhelmingly (90-1) Wednesday.

The sponsor, Rep. Dale Locker, D-80 Anna, said "there's no way to estimate" the value of honeybees to agriculture, and that if there isn't a good market for honey, Ohioans may stop keeping bees.

Spokesmen for the state's more than 9,000 beekeepers are promoting the legislation, which specifically prohibits labeling any product as honey—all or in part—unless it is the real thing.

Young Women Urged To Avoid Breast X-Rays For Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Routine X-ray examinations for breast cancer in women under the age of 35 should be avoided because the screening procedure itself may cause tumors, a Food and Drug Administration advisory panel says.

The advisory committee also called for more studies on the safety and effectiveness of such X rays, called mammography, in women aged 35-50 years. The panel also urged physicians to determine whether female patients are pregnant before taking abdominal X rays.

The FDA's Bureau of Radiological Health has taken the recommendations under consideration. But

Dr. William S. Cole, associate director for medical affairs, said the under-35 prohibition "makes good sense."

The rush by thousands of young women for breast X rays is "a mistake, growing out of hysteria," he said in an interview.

The advisory committee's recommendations were spurred by reports that some college health clinics are advising coeds to undergo routine mammography. More and more women are seeking breast cancer examinations since the wives of President Ford and Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller underwent surgical removal of cancerous breasts.

Cole said mammography is not very effective in young women because they have firmer breast tissue which may obscure X-ray detection of tumors. No one knows the risk of low-dose radiation, he added.

In addition, said Bureau Director John C. Villforth, the two X-ray films required for each breast and use of improper equipment and techniques are resulting in radiation overexposure for many women.

The advisory panel recommended that women under 35 avoid mammography if they have no complaints, no personal or strong family history of cancer and no physical evidence of cancer such as a lump.

Cole said the effectiveness of mammography in women aged 35-50 may be answered in two or three years when the National Cancer Institute and American Cancer Society complete data from their mass screening of 270,000 women in 27 cancer detection clinics around the country.

ARC Joins Gas Push

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Acting at the urging of Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes, the Appalachian Regional Commission has decided to launch a drive for federal funds to develop new sources of natural gas.

The commission agreed Wednesday to call a meeting of regional governors within two weeks to solicit their support of the effort.

The commission took its action after Rhodes told it the energy situation in his state is critical.

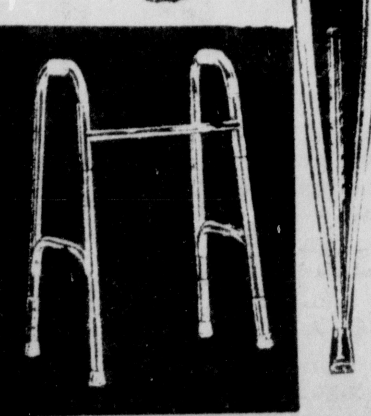

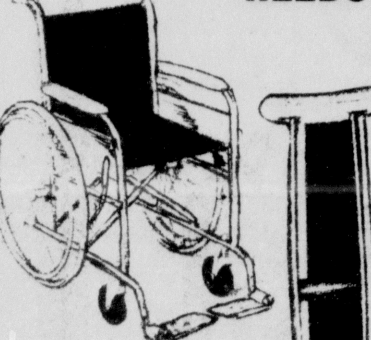

He said Ohio cannot wait around for action because "we have at hand the destruction of all industry..."

"We cannot listen to everybody who's dreaming about six years from now," he said. "We will lose our industry...We are talking now about survival."

Rhodes urged the commission to act, but did not explain what sort of action he hoped for, other than to say, "You are not going to make an impact on Washington by passing resolutions and writing letters. You have to go down there and pound the tables."

Donald Whitehead, federal co-chairman of the commission, said the commission may find its hands tied by federal regulations. He said the commission is now prohibited by Congress from spending money for the development of energy sources, but he said Congress is now reviewing that prohibition.

Ford Becomes Honorary Cajun

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — President Ford is now an honorary Cajun.

The President was honored as a "Good Cajun" Wednesday, right in front of Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards, the state's highest ranking Cajun.

"I was counting on being the first Cajun president," Edwards quipped.

The Rev. Sam Hill Ray, chaplain of the U.S. Navy League, bestowed the honor in the name of 800,000 Louisiana Cajuns, descendants of the French Acadians who moved from Canada 200 years ago.

"Cajun Jerry embodies all the bluff and hearty qualifications of his Cajun admirers," the chaplain said.

"Father Ray," Ford improvised in tourist French, "merci, garcon."

Court Rules On Traffic 'Points'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state cannot suspend a driver's license for accumulating too many traffic violation points unless it earlier sent a warning letter to the driver warning him of the possible suspension, the Ohio Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

The court in a 4-3 decision said the warning letter, after a motorist has accumulated more than five points, is a required precedent to possible suspension.

State law provides for license suspension after a driver accumulates 12 violation points in two years.

The court ruled in the case of Gary M. Jacobs, who was told on Dec. 20, 1973, that he had accumulated 12 points.

The Shaker Heights Municipal Court refused to suspend his license, however, saying that the law clearly requires the registrar to notify the driver of the proposed suspension.

The Supreme Court's ruling upholds that decision.

Say State Hospitals In A Mess

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the House Judiciary Committee were told Wednesday night that state mental institutions will stop accepting involuntary patients next fall unless funds to properly staff the institutions are made available.

The somber warning came from Dr. Timothy B. Moritz, director of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, who described conditions in the mental institutions as "grossly substandard."

Lack of professional help is such that even minimal care is not possible, he said.

Moritz appeared to testify against a bill, carrying an estimated $3 million price tag, to guarantee persons committed to hospitals against their will their legal rights—including representation by an attorney at precommitment hearings.

But he went much further.

The 38-year-old Ohio native, considered for the job of mental health chief by former Gov. John J. Gilligan, but not hired until Gov. James A. Rhodes took office in January, stressed that his remarks were not political.

"Politics is not my bag," he said.

Moritz' characterizations of patients being given medication without records being kept, of only one registered nurse in an entire hospital, and of other hospitals with unlicensed "professionals" on the job seemed to stun committee members.

section in the law which would forbid suspension if the warning letter is not sent.

In other decisions, the court:

—Ordered the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. to pay $10,000 to a woman injured in a car accident even though its policyholder didn't comply with all the terms of the policy.

The court upheld a judgment in favor of Anna Mae Brown of Cincinnati, who was injured on May 11, 1965, when her car was struck by one driven by Joseph L. Donders of Cincinnati, a Liberty policyholder.

She sued Donders and in 1971 won a default judgment of $10,000. Liberty, however, refused to pay the claim, contending Donders had not complied with a section of his policy that required him to send Liberty all legal papers sent him in connection with the suit.

The Supreme Court, noting that Donders had notified the company of the accident and that Liberty had never bothered to contact the injured woman, said the insurance company could not waive its liability.

—Ordered a hearing on a Columbus County inmate's contention that he pleaded guilty to a crime only because his attorney promised him he would be given probation.

The court ordered the hearing in the case of James Richard Mishelek, who is serving a 10-25 year sentence for armed robbery and two counts of assault with a dangerous weapon.

The Columbus County Common Pleas Court rejected his petition without a hearing.

The Supreme Court, in reversing that decision, said the trial court must allow Mishelek the opportunity to prove his contention.

Kay Promotes Political Party

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Ohioans must form a new political party in order to be ready to act if Republican and Democratic candidates prove unsatisfactory, Cleveland attorney Richard B. Kay says.

Kay, a frequent candidate and who split with the American Independent party when it failed to nominate him as its presidential candidate, said Wednesday he will campaign during the next six months for formation of a party yet to be named.

Acknowledging that setting up a new party will require thousands of signatures, Kay said he will help collect them.

He also invited suggestions for a name, saying it shouldn't be connected with any other third-party movement and should be one likely to attract adherents.

Shale Oil Recovery Nearer

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP)— Industry appears to be "on the threshold" of developing a practical system for recovering oil from shale, a Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) spokesman says as a fuel test opens.

Harry Pforzheimer, program director of the demonstration Paraho shale oil recovery project being conducted by Sohio and 16 other firms, said the yield from refining 10,000 barrels of shale-recovered oil was nearly 97 per cent in useful products, including coke and a gas.

The comments came Tuesday as Pforzheimer announced the start of the first full-scale, nationwide test of fuels derived from the shale oil. The fuels were being used in military and industrial vehicles to determine their energy yields.

The Paraho project, a 30-month, $7.5 million program under way in the Naval Oil Shale Reserves at Anvil Points near Rifle, Colo., recovers 95 per cent of the oil present in the shale, plus large amounts of useful gas, Pforzheimer said.

H. Tyler Marcy, Navy assistant secretary for research, said the armed forces and industry are "anxious to develop commercially feasible shale oil recovery processes...."

Marcy added that, "so far, Paraho reports high energy yields from their mined shale, from 84 to 92 per cent thermal efficiency."

Seven fuels were being tested by the Navy, Air Force, Army, Coast Guard, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Energy Research and Development Administration over an indeterminate period, a Sohio spokesman said.

The sample shipment refined by Gary Western Co. of Gilsonite, Colo., produced 6,020 barrels of military fuels, including jet, diesel and gasoline types, Sohio reported. Another 2,085 barrels of oil were converted into high-grade coke said likely to be useful for metallurgical processes.

About 500 barrels were converted into a gas from which large-scale refining could produce fertilizer and other chemical products, Sohio said. About 1,100 barrels of oil were used for purifying, heating and operating the plant.

Pforzheimer, who also is vice president of the Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) subsidiary Sohio Petroleum Co., said operation of the Paraho system so far "seems to indicate that industry is on the threshold of developing technical capability of a viable oil shale operation."

He said the process consumes no water in the retort operation, uses large chunks of shale that can be disposed of in an environmentally acceptable manner, and presents no serious dust problem.

Among the centers distributing the test fuels were Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio, and Lewis Research Center, Cleveland, Ohio.

Others listed were Naval Air Propulsion Test Center, Trenton, N.J.; Mobility Equipment R&D Center, Ft. Belvoir, Va.; Energy Research Laboratory, Bartlesville, Okla.; Fuels and Lubricants Laboratory, San Antonio, Tex.; Detroit Diesel-Allison Division of General Motors Corp., Indianapolis, Ind.; Naval Ship Engineering Center, Philadelphia; and U.S. Coast Guard Station, Portsmouth, Va.

Public Donations Sought In KSU Court Struggle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Families of the 1970 Kent State University victims have turned for the first time to the public for contributions to finance their lawsuit against Ohio officials.

"I didn't know where else to get any money. It gets pretty desperate," said Arthur Krause whose daughter Allison was one of four students killed by National Guard bullets in the confrontation five years ago May 4. The guardsmen were sent to the campus to quell student demonstrations protesting the U.S. incursion into Cambodia.

Krause signed the letter mailed last month to about 124,000 persons, requesting donations to the Kent State Due Process of Law Fund. The names were obtained from a professional mailing-list firm.

So far, the fund has received about 4,400 contributions, mostly of $5 or $10 and totaling some $42,000, said the Rev. John P. Adams. The minister is director of the United Methodist Church division which sponsors and administers the fund from its Washington headquarters.

Grain Reserves Decision Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — A State Department official says the Ford administration hopes to decide in "a couple of months" on the U.S. position regarding international grain reserves to serve as a hedge against future world food shortages.

Assistant Secretary of State Thomas O. Enders said Tuesday, however, that a number of fundamental questions remain to be worked out. He said those include:

—Selecting commodities to be included in a stockpile plan. He speculated that wheat would be the main food grain with some rice possibly being considered.

—The quantity of reserves, both from an international standpoint and the U.S. Share. Enders said that up to 60 million metric tons of all types of grain worldwide had been suggested, with 30 million to 35 million tons of wheat mentioned as a possible alternate level.

—Ownership of reserve stocks. Enders said the administration favors private ownership of grain by farmers and the trade in designing the U.S. share. He said that existing authority for federal acquisition of stocks are sufficient if the need arises for government ownership.

Enders told the Newspaper Farm Editors of America that another problem facing U.S. planners is how such an international agreement of grain reserves will be enforced. He said administration consultations with Congress on the proposed plan, offered

Urge Voucher System For Utility Bills

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A proposal for the state to enact a tax-supported discount voucher system to help needy Ohioans pay utility bills was made Tuesday by John P. Williamson, president of Toledo Edison Co.

The vouchers would be financed by a 4 per cent state excise tax that customers pay on utility bills, Williamson suggested. He estimated the tax, which at one time went toward a relief fund, provides the state with $200 million annually, including $6 million from Toledo Edison customers.

"We must go beyond what used to be considered our normal responsibility with our customers and help them with their problem," Williamson said at the utility's annual shareholders meeting.

Williamson compared his proposal to the federal food stamp program. Under his plan, needy persons would be able to buy vouchers at a discount and apply them to pay bills for natural gas, electricity and telephones. Fuel oil, gasoline and other forms of energy where the tax is not applied would be exempted.

He encouraged that the program be applied to welfare recipients, the unemployed and those with fixed incomes.

The tax was originally enacted during the depression years at .65 per cent and earmarked for a relief fund for the poor. The levy has since been increased and now goes directly to the general state operating fund, a fiscal officer in the state auditor's office said.

Lakes Bill Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation designed to reduce near-record water levels in the Great Lakes has been proposed by more than 50 congressmen from Great Lakes states.

Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., said the bill, which has drawn bipartisan support from congressmen from the seven-state Great Lakes region, would permit a greater diversion of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago.

The water would flow into the Mississippi basin. O'Hara, prime sponsor of the measure, said the bill has stipulations to protect both the lakes region and the basin.

For instance, the bill provides that the flow from Lake Michigan could not be increased if there is danger of flooding.

Viets In U.S. Glad Thieu Gone

By SETH MYDANS
Associated Press Writer
Some South Vietnamese living in the United States are fearful for the safety of their families and friends, exultant at the collapse of the Thieu government, bitter that the United States will help no longer and angry that the United States supported the war so long.

These mixed and contradictory reactions emerged from Associated Press interviews with a sampling of the 30,000 South Vietnamese in this country.

All agreed, as they watched events unfold in their native land, that the future holds only uncertainty.

"Every day I am worrying, thinking what is going on in my home town — afraid, afraid," said Nguyen Quan, a 20-year-old student living in Lewiston, Maine. "I have parents in Saigon and my sister and uncle in Da Nang, and we haven't heard from them in a month."

None of the Vietnamese here can be sure that they will ever see their families or homes again.

"I have not been home for four years, and I really think now I might never see Saigon again," said Vu Lan, a 22-year-old student in Carbondale, Ill.

talked to are determined to return even if it means death. Others say: "I must stay here and try to survive as the last member of my family."

He said his presence in the United States itself endangers his family.

"My father is a teacher in a Saigon high school," Vu Lan said. "For sure he will be in danger because I am right now in this country to get a western education."

Miss Nguyen, a resident of Washington, D.C., asked that her full name not be used to protect her relatives in Saigon.

"It's pretty naive to believe that things will settle down without a bloodbath, and I mean a terrible bloodbath," she said.

But Nguyen Hoi Chan, a teacher in Cambridge, Mass., disagreed.

"Sooner or later Vietnam has to go back to the Vietnamese and be independent," she said. "This is what's happening right now. And it is perhaps happening in a much easier, less bloody way because the Thieu government is not fighting."

"Once a political solution is arrived at, we will feel perfectly safe about returning there," she said. "Right now, the greatest danger for every Vietnamese family is for the war to continue."

Nguyen Thi Ngoc Thoa, who brought war-wounded students to the United States seven years ago and stayed to edit a Vietnamese paper here, doubts that her relatives will be in danger.

"My brothers and my father are army officers, but I'm not worried about it," she said. "In every family there was a soldier. If they kill all the Vietnamese, who will they stay with?"

Good News Singers Perform Skillings Musical 'Love'

The Good News Singers, under the direction of Gary Dean, will perform the complete Young World Musical "Love" during the 10:45 a.m. worship service Sunday at Community United Methodist Church.

Written by Otis Skillings, the musical expresses the problems of contemporary man and how these can be solved through the act of love, as expressed by Jesus the Christ.

The Rev. David F. Frazer is pastor of the church.

But Miss Nguyen is bitter about the turn of events. She spends her days organizing demonstrations and lobbying on Capitol Hill for more aid.

"I've been here for five years and I do have a lot of very, very close American friends," she said. "But now I must say I'm very confused, because I see them turning away from our cry for help."

"If anything happens and my parents cannot get out, I will have to put some of the responsibility on the Americans, and then I cannot consider them my friends."

Grain Reserves Decision Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — A State Department official says the Ford administration hopes to decide in "a couple of months" on the U.S. position regarding international grain reserves to serve as a hedge against future world food shortages.

Assistant Secretary of State Thomas O. Enders said Tuesday, however, that a number of fundamental questions remain to be worked out. He said those include:

—Selecting commodities to be included in a stockpile plan. He speculated that wheat would be the main food grain with some rice possibly being considered.

—The quantity of reserves, both from an international standpoint and the U.S. Share. Enders said that up to 60 million metric tons of all types of grain worldwide had been suggested, with 30 million to 35 million tons of wheat mentioned as a possible alternate level.

—Ownership of reserve stocks. Enders said the administration favors private ownership of grain by farmers and the trade in designing the U.S. share. He said that existing authority for federal acquisition of stocks are sufficient if the need arises for government ownership.

Enders told the Newspaper Farm Editors of America that another problem facing U.S. planners is how such an international agreement of grain reserves will be enforced. He said administration consultations with Congress on the proposed plan, offered

Urge Voucher System For Utility Bills

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A proposal for the state to enact a tax-supported discount voucher system to help needy Ohioans pay utility bills was made Tuesday by John P. Williamson, president of Toledo Edison Co.

The vouchers would be financed by a 4 per cent state excise tax that customers pay on utility bills, Williamson suggested. He estimated the tax, which at one time went toward a relief fund, provides the state with $200 million annually, including $6 million from Toledo Edison customers.

"We must go beyond what used to be considered our normal responsibility with our customers and help them with their problem," Williamson said at the utility's annual shareholders meeting.

Williamson compared his proposal to the federal food stamp program. Under his plan, needy persons would be able to buy vouchers at a discount and apply them to pay bills for natural gas, electricity and telephones. Fuel oil, gasoline and other forms of energy where the tax is not applied would be exempted.

He encouraged that the program be applied to welfare recipients, the unemployed and those with fixed incomes.

The tax was originally enacted during the depression years at .65 per cent and earmarked for a relief fund for the poor. The levy has since been increased and now goes directly to the general state operating fund, a fiscal officer in the state auditor's office said.

Lakes Bill Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation designed to reduce near-record water levels in the Great Lakes has been proposed by more than 50 congressmen from Great Lakes states.

Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., said the bill, which has drawn bipartisan support from congressmen from the seven-state Great Lakes region, would permit a greater diversion of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago.

per second are taken from the lake. The bill would allow the flow to be increased to 10,000 cubic feet per second.

The water would flow into the Mississippi basin. O'Hara, prime sponsor of the measure, said the bill has stipulations to protect both the lakes region and the basin.

For instance, the bill provides that the flow from Lake Michigan could not be increased if there is danger of flooding.

Viets In U.S. Glad Thieu Gone

By SETH MYDANS
Associated Press Writer
Some South Vietnamese living in the United States are fearful for the safety of their families and friends, exultant at the collapse of the Thieu government, bitter that the United States will help no longer and angry that the United States supported the war so long.

These mixed and contradictory reactions emerged from Associated Press interviews with a sampling of the 30,000 South Vietnamese in this country.

All agreed, as they watched events unfold in their native land, that the future holds only uncertainty.

"Every day I am worrying, thinking what is going on in my home town — afraid, afraid," said Nguyen Quan, a 20-year-old student living in Lewiston, Maine. "I have parents in Saigon and my sister and uncle in Da Nang, and we haven't heard from them in a month."

None of the Vietnamese here can be sure that they will ever see their families or homes again.

"I have not been home for four years, and I really think now I might never see Saigon again," said Vu Lan, a 22-year-old student in Carbondale, Ill., talked to are determined to return even if it means death. Others say: "I must stay here and try to survive as the last member of my family."

He said his presence in the United States itself endangers his family.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Some astute checking could save you time, prevent wasted energy and costly errors. Don't divert efforts into unproductive channels.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Pay no heed to glowing reports or sensational rumors—especially if Needed A Police Call

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Engine Co. 3 was called out on a resuscitator call recently. The four-man crew rolled out of the station at 1:49 p.m. After giving aid to the victim of a seizure the fire engine and its crew returned to the station at 2 p.m. and found that in the short time they had been absent the station had been burglarized.

One fire fighter, Norman Tooman, lost a $100, 10-speed bike while Oliver Matlock had an expensive portable radio stolen.

Burn Victims Need Oxygen

CHICAGO (AP) — You can die of carbon monoxide inhalation if your home burns, even if you aren't in the flames.

For this reason, it is advisable to treat burn and smoke victims in disastrous fires immediately with oxygen therapy, say a team of University of Chicago investigators. This should be done at the site of the fire, if possible.

One problem in diagnosing CO poisoning is that its victims do not turn blue. Also, carbon monoxide is without smell and nonirritating to the mucous membranes, so it is inhaled without the awareness of the victim. Physical exertion increases the intake of CO, which is of particular concern to fire fighters.

The first adhesive stamps were authorized by Congress July 1, 1847.

8 Arrested In Factory Blast, Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents arrested eight persons in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Tennessee today in connection with the explosion and fire that destroyed the $14 million Sponge Rubber Products plant in Shelton, Conn., last month. The president of the plant's parent firm was one of those arrested.

Two other persons are being sought. The arrests followed an indictment returned Wednesday by a federal grand jury in New Haven, Conn., charging conspiracy, interstate transportation in aid of racketeering, racketeer influence and federal bombing statutes.

Superior Court Judge George Saden in Bridgeport, Conn., had signed arrest warrants earlier charging arson and burglary.

Announcement of the arrests was made by the FBI in Washington.

FBI director Clarence M. Kelley said those arrested included Charles D. Moeller of Spencerville, Ohio, president of Ohio Decorative Products, parent company of the sponge plant.

The indictment charged that 24 drums of gasoline and two drums of explosives were transported from Pennsylvania to the building in Connecticut which was destroyed the night of March 1.

It also alleged that Charles Moeller directed and authorized payments of up to $35,000 to David N. Bubar, 47, of Memphis, Tenn. Moeller and Bubar were among those arrested.

The FBI said it still is looking for Albert R. Coffey, 43, a bartender who was last known to live in Butler, Pa., and Dennis Charles Tiche, 28, president of a Boyers, Pa., chemical company.

One entrance to Winfield was blocked by a Burlington Northern freight train that derailed late Wednesday when the track bed washed out. No injuries were reported.

High water with blocked streets and stranded cars also plagued parts of Missouri north of Kansas City. Hardest-hit in that area was the Lake Waukomis community. Up to 5 inches of rain swamped some sections in less than 12 hours.

Heavy thunderstorms during the night ranged northeast into the Chicago area, causing some street flooding, lightning damage and power outages that lasted several hours in some parts of the city.

Fort Riley, Kan., was raked by wind gusts up to 75 miles an hour. Large hail pounded sections of Kansas and Illinois, and rainfalls in excess of an inch were common eastward into Indiana.

Thundershowers also roamed through the Ohio Valley and into the Middle Atlantic States. Rain extended north into New England.

BIRD IN A MOBILE HOME—Carl Smith, Route 1, Stoutsville, points to the hole in his pickup truck bed where a bird has set up housekeeping. Smith had not used the truck for about a month this spring, leaving it parked near his barn. When he started using it to haul fertilizer to the field, he noticed a bird fly away each time he started the vehicle. He investigated more closely and found a nest with four eggs. Everytime he returns to the area of the barn and parks the truck, mama bird returns.

High water with blocked streets and stranded cars also plagued parts of Missouri north of Kansas City. Hardest-hit in that area was the Lake Waukomis community. Up to 5 inches of rain swamped some sections in less than 12 hours.

Heavy thunderstorms during the night ranged northeast into the Chicago area, causing some street flooding, lightning damage and power outages that lasted several hours in some parts of the city.

Fort Riley, Kan., was raked by wind gusts up to 75 miles an hour. Large hail pounded sections of Kansas and Illinois, and rainfalls in excess of an inch were common eastward into Indiana.

Thundershowers also roamed through the Ohio Valley and into the Middle Atlantic States. Rain extended north into New England.
